FARE INCREASE OR NO MERGER, HAM DECLARES

Senate Committee Gets Traction Men's Views at Hearing.

PRESENT RATE MAKES DEAL "IMPOSSIBILITY"

Hanna Also Insists on Need of Higher Fare for Success.

FEAR NEW RESOLUTION MENACES COURT FIGHT

It Would Rob Companies of Raise, if Granted Them, Speaker Says.

A merger of the two street car companies here will be impossible if Congress insists on continuing the present rate of fare for two years, the Senate District committee was told last night at a hearing on the new merger resolution.

William F. Ham, president of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., told the committee that the provision in the resolution which guarantees the present fare for two more years presents an "insurmountable obstacle" to a merger.

John H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co., joined with Mr. Ham in objecting to the two-year clause. He said also that he expected a fare increase to be granted immediately after the merger, if there is a merger.

Compromise Offered.

The fight on the fare provision came after a compromise had been suggested on another controversial part of the resolution. This was the so-called rider, which attorneys for the traction companies declare robs them of the right to have the courts overrule decisions of the Public Utilities Commission.

Maj. Gen. Jason M. Patrick, chairman of the Utilities Commission, told the committee that while the amendments taking away power now invested in the courts are desirable, they are not essential to a merger, and he agreed that they might very well be embodied in a separate bill.

Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, suggested that this be done, and Senators Jones (Republican), Washington, and Glass (Democrat), Virginia, appeared to favor the suggestion. The committee did not formally agree to such a compromise, however, and the question still may cause trouble.

Roles Are Switched.

The hearing last night presented a much different picture from those merger hearings that preceded it. In the past it usually was the traction officials who were appealing for a merger; but, as stated, the traction officials appeared last night in the role of critics.

When the hearing was over, the merger, which has been agitated for 25 years, still seemed a long way off. What the Senate District committee will do next will be decided at an executive committee meeting which Chairman Capper will call next week.

At the outset last night, Gen. Patrick, Harleigh H. Hartman, vice chairman of the commission, and Col. William B. Ladue, the Engineer Commissioner, explained the new resolution.

Dozier B. Devane, attorney for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., promised the Senate committee that he would submit amendments to

Maryland Woman Attacked in Home

Seat Pleasant Resident Is Choked Unconscious by Marauder.

Mrs. Mary Hutchinson, 45 years old, suffered painful abrasions of her throat in her home at Seat Pleasant, Md., shortly after 10 o'clock last night when she was attacked by an unidentified Negro and strangled into unconsciousness on the first floor of her home when she arose from her bed to investigate the noise made by his forced entry through a window.

Hearing the commotion below, her three children—9-year-old Charles, 6-year-old Helen and 5-year-old George—awakened from sleep on the second floor, ran down the hall steps and shrieked at the top of their voices. A next door neighbor, Charles Hoover, ran into the Hutchinson home at the moment the woman was slumping unconscious to the floor. The man disappeared in the darkness.

Maryland State policemen immediately started a search on a description furnished by the woman, who was revived and remained at her home. Her husband, Christopher, employed in Washington, was summoned.

TEMPERATURE DROP IS FORECAST TODAY

Skies Are Due to Clear, but Mercury Will Hover Near 20 Degrees.

SEVERAL INJURED ON ICE

Much colder weather and clear skies are predicted for today by the Weather Bureau, which announced that the thermometer probably would register somewhere between 15 and 20 degrees all day. The temperature is scheduled to rise again tomorrow.

Although the predicted snow fell yesterday, it added nothing to the coating already on the ground, melting as quickly as it descended. The minimum temperature yesterday was 32 degrees, while throughout most of the day the thermometer held steady at its peak for the day, which was 34.

Skating will continue on the Lincoln Memorial reflecting pool, and the streets which have been roped off for coasting will continue to be available for that sport.

Bertha Hubacker, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Hubacker, of 1709 W street southeast, is near death in Casualty Hospital as the result of injuries received when a sled on which she was coasting at Sixteenth and W streets southeast yesterday afternoon crashed into a telephone pole. The child sustained lacerations of the forehead and a possible fracture of the skull. Hospital physicians fear she may not recover.

Henrietta Simpson, colored, 21 years old, of 2 Messer street southeast, suffered serious stomach injuries yesterday morning when a sled upon which she was riding slid into a mound of ice on Pomeroy road between Nichols avenue and Sheridan road southeast. She was treated by Dr. Lucas Scott, of 2504 Nichols avenue, and later taken to her home. Her condition was reported as undetermined.

Slipping on the icy sidewalk in front of 527 Ninth street northeast, Policeman William B. Satterthwaite, of the Ninth Precinct, sprained his right ankle yesterday morning. He was not seriously injured.

Elizabeth Jordon, 23 years old, of 717 Twentieth street northwest, sprained her right foot when she slipped and fell on the ice in front of 812 Fifth street northeast. She was taken to her home after receiving treatment at Emergency Hospital.

Slipping on the icy pavement on Biltmore street northwest near Nineteenth street, Clarence Wilson, colored, 28 years old, of Eighth street northwest near R street, suffered injuries to the left shoulder. He was treated at Emergency Hospital.

Thelma Jacobs, 13 years old, of 1114 Owens place northeast, was treated at Casualty Hospital for injuries received Another Girl in Hospital, But Is Expected to Live After Crash.

Coroner Opens Inquiry, Indicating Chauffeur Is to Blame.

Cleveland, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Unsuspecting the deadly danger of an onrushing New York Central mail train, nine school children and the driver of a bus in which they were riding were killed today near Berea, Ohio, fifteen miles south of here, as they rode on to a railroad crossing in its path. One other child was injured seriously but is expected to recover.

There was a tremendous crash and tearing and grinding of metal and wood as the locomotive ripped through the weaker vehicle, scattering bodies and wreckage for 500 feet down the track.

Those who were killed were: John Taylor, 36, the driver; William Davidson, 10, and his brother, Vernon, 7; Rita Zelinski, 9, her sister, Dorothy, 11, and her brother, Vincent, 6; William Pastorik, 10; Evelyn Kaltenback, 7; Jacob Walter, 12, and his sister, Juanita, 9. In a hospital at Berea tonight was Ethel Davidson, sister of William and Vernon. She had a broken leg, cuts and bruises.

Coroner A. J. Pearse of Cuyahoga County, opened his investigation immediately. He called an inquest late today at which fifteen witnesses testified.

Mr. Pearse said that he would not give a formal verdict until he has questioned the engineer and fireman of the train tomorrow. Tonight, however, he was emphatic in declaring that upon the basis of evidence already submitted he believes that "wanton carelessness" on the part of Taylor, the driver, caused the tragedy.

"I think it is an unquestioned case of carelessness and negligence," Pearse said. "There is an unobstructed view of the railroad at that point for perhaps three miles. I feel certain that the driver saw a slow train pass on the track farthest from him and failed completely to see the speeding mail train which was on the next track nearer to him."

It was the heaviest death toll of a crossing accident in Ohio since the tragedy at Bellevue, exactly a year ago today, in which 21 persons were killed when a bus was hit by a trolley car. The Berea accident was the fourth bus tragedy in Ohio within three weeks and ran the toll of these accidents to 20 dead and more than 30 injured for this brief period.

John Hand, engineer of the mail train, said he was not on the right side of the cab to see the bus, and that the fireman was shoveling coal as the train approached the crossing. Relieved from the throttle when the train arrived later at Toledo, Hand was near a nervous collapse from the shock.

The train was traveling about 45 miles an hour, bound for Chicago. It hit the bus squarely in the middle

AID NEEDED BY BYRD TO LEAVE ANTARCTIC

Norwegian Ships May Be Asked to Force Way Through Ice Pack.

PASSAGES ARE CLOSING

New York, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The New York Times tomorrow will say a report originating with an amateur radio operator in Washingtonville, Ohio, that the City of New York, flagship of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, had reached the Antarctic ice barrier on which is Little America, Admiral Byrd's base, was declared tonight to be without basis in fact by Capt. H. H. Railey, manager of the expedition and personal representative of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd in New York.

"On the contrary," said Capt. Railey, "the City of New York has reached only the edge of the ice pack in Ross Sea, a very different matter, and owing to the unprecedented condition of the ice pack, the New York and the Eleanor Bolling may not succeed in negotiating the southward passage to Admiral Byrd's base—at least, not without the aid of larger vessels. This is a critical contingency. The Eleanor Bolling will join the City of New York on the northern edge of the ice pack about January 28, if by that time the ice is sufficiently open. Both vessels will proceed south to Little

Rubber Magnate, Son White House Callers

Harvey Firestone, tire manufacturer, and Harvey Firestone, jr., his son, called on President Hoover yesterday.

It was said at the White House that Mr. Firestone had called to pay his respects and had not discussed business conditions with the President. The two have been personal friends for many years and were associated during the efforts of the Department of Commerce to break the foreign monopoly on rubber in 1924 and 1925

Adjournment Is Hastened as Schafer and Doran Have Tilt.

EXECUTIVE SESSION SLATED FOR TODAY

Shift to Justice Department Declared by Officials to Be Advisable.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mellon's testimony advocating that prohibition enforcement be lodged with the Justice Department was followed yesterday by a clash between Prohibition Commissioner Doran and Representative Schafer (Republican), Wisconsin, which brought a sudden adjournment of hearings before the House expenditures committee.

As the first of President Hoover's proposals for strengthening prohibition enforcement was called up for discussion, the wet members of the committee listened in silence to Secretary Mellon. He read a prepared statement approving the Williamson bill to effect the transfer from the Treasury of responsibility for Volstead enforcement, in which he insisted that the Justice Department could better accomplish the task.

The Secretary of the Treasury declined, however, to be drawn into a discussion of the merits of the eighteenth amendment.

Doran Follows Chief.

Commissioner Doran, who has charge of the Prohibition Bureau, took the stand after his chief. Mr. Shafer—a wet—precipitated a brisk skirmish with charges that dry agents had violated search and seizure provisions of the Constitution without being penalized. Mr. Doran took emphatic exception.

Especial interest was attached to Mr. Doran's views yesterday with the circulation of rumors that he intended to resign when the proposed transfer of his bureau is effected. He supported Mr. Mellon in advocating the change. To date he has refrained from either verifying or denying the reports that he contemplates leaving the Government service. Assistant Secretary Lowman has not received his resignation.

Mr. Schafer demanded an opportunity to interrogate Mr. Doran, and objected at times to the way he was answered. Chairman Williamson, of the committee, obviated further exchanges by terminating the hearing.

Shout at Each Other.

At the outset, the Wisconsin representative inquired why he had not been furnished requested information

Liquor Charges Made Against Port Officer

Antisaloon League Sends Accusation to Hoover, Saying New York Comptroller Is Opposed to Dry Law and Winks at Violations.

New York, Jan. 22 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Antisaloon League of New Jersey asserted today that an oil magnate of New York had paid $80 a case to have $25,000 in champagne smuggled into the country last spring and that though he had admitted his guilt and had surrendered the wine, neither Philip Elting, collector of customs of the Port of New York, nor any of his colleagues, had imposed a fine or other penalty.

This charge was forwarded to President Hoover as part of the Antisaloon League's fight to prevent the reappointment of Col. Arthur F. Foran, a wealthy and wet New Jersey Republican, to the post of comptroller of customs here.

Thus far that fight has involved the breaking into Col. Foran's hunting lodge at Mount Airy, N. J., by some unidentified person who took photographs showing a bar in one corner of the lodge, several empty whisky bottles and two slot machines on a table, and an unexplained raid yesterday afternoon, ostensibly for the purpose of seizing the slot machines, by a Federal dry agent, who had not been assigned to such a job, and by a former customs employe, who was discharged for bootlegging.

In addition to the affidavit reciting the oil man's liquor purchases and importations, and demanding the immediate removal of Mr. Elting, Mr. Foran, Henry C. Stuart, assistant collector of customs; George Brewer, assistant solicitor of customs; Thomas J. Skuse, assistant comptroller, and Gregory O'Keefe, special agent of the Treasury Department, the league sent others making direct accusations against Col. Foran.

One was that as a director of the Colombian Steamship Co., the Ocean Transport Co. and the Santander Navigation Co. he was a violator of the Federal provision that an official can not have business interests in companies coming within his jurisdiction.

Another was that before the presidential election in 1928 Col. Foran had publicly stated that he would vote for Mr. Hoover because he was a Federal official, but that as an opponent of prohibition his sympathies were with Al Smith.

Mr. Elting, Mr. Stuart and Mr. O'Keefe smiled cheerfully at the charges this afternoon.

"The prohibition department came here early in June——" commented Mr. Elting.

"After they had allowed the oil magnate's liquor to elude them," contributed Mr. O'Keefe.

"——and asked me to issue a customs' seizure warrant. We asked for further evidence — evidence which would assure us that the identity of the packages which had been admitted through the customs office had

Pair Decides to Attempt Wedded Life Anew by Repeating Rites.

A wedding ceremony, performed fourteen years ago, was repeated with the same four participants yesterday afternoon in the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, 1515 Newton street northwest. The bride had traveled all the way from the Canal Zone and the bridegroom had come from Wilmington, Del.

Fourteen years ago the Rev. George F. Dudley, pastor of St. Stephen's, then on Fourteenth street, was asked to unite a youth of 21 and a bride of 19 in matrimony. The two looked forward to a long and happy life together as they departed on their wedding trip.

NAVY ENVOYS DECIDE TO SOFT-PEDAL RATIO AT OPENING MEETING

Conference, Not Ready for Today's Session, Will Go Gingerly.

NEEDS TO BE RECITED ONLY IN GENERALITIES

United States Group to Make No Statement at Present.

FRENCH, BRITISH CALL ON STIMSON IN TANGLE

MacDonald, Tardieu, Apart on Tonnage Compromise, Ask for His Views.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Jan. 22 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—From a bewildering series of conferences today between members of each of the five delegations to the London Naval Conference and those of every other, which filled West End streets from morning to night with scurrying motor cars bearing the Union Jack, the Stars and Stripes, the tri-color, the red sun of Japan and the green and white of Italy, certain important developments emerge:

The Five Powers are not really ready for the session tomorrow in St. James' Palace at which it was proposed to state each nation's program. Differences are too profound to bear public scrutiny, but as the session was announced it must be held, and, accordingly, each spokesman has agreed to soft-pedal his exposition of his country's "needs" and above all at this early stage not to mention any figures or ratios. At the same time "needs" will be put forward in general terms by all the powers excepting the United States. The American statement, it is gathered, will be of a different type from the others and will not refer to "needs" at all.

British and French Meet.

The most important event of today was a conference at No. 10 Downing street between the heads of the British and French delegations and their experts. The British and French memoranda recently exchanged were studied, points of agreement, points of difference and points classified as obscure were recorded and the British and French experts were summoned and told to report to the conference of all five powers Friday morning on points requiring expert elucidation. This conference, it is already clear, will be much more important than tomorrow's meeting.

Secretary of State Stimson was sent for by MacDonald and Tardieu after the French and British got into a tangle discussing the French compromise formula of 1927 which proposed to combine global tonnage with limitation by categories, each power being permitted to transfer a certain margin of tonnage at its own choice from one category to another upon giving notice to the other contracting parties of its intention.

MacDonald Fearful of Effect.

Tardieu strongly stressed this plan and MacDonald is understood to have pointed out that it might give rise to serious apprehensions. While, for an example indicated, it might lead to France taking tonnage from big-gun ships allotted to her to build more light cruisers and submarines, other contracting powers might increase their big cruiser strength at the expense of submarines and destroyers.

When Stimson arrived he was asked, it is understood, to express views on how the French proposal could be reconciled with the Anglo-American understanding reached in principle last summer. Nothing can be learned tonight as to the line the American Secretary of State took, but from remarks of other delegates it is probable that he did not commit himself very far and that a lengthy report on this situation is being sent to Washington.

The French delegation has evinced great curiosity as to the exact scope

Huston, Brotherhood Named in Realty Suit

Company Seeks to Recover $900,000 in Sarasota Deal.

New York, Jan. 22 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Cladius H. Huston, chairman of the national Republican committee and close friend of President Hoover, was named defendant together with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and George T. Webb, former trustee of the Brotherhood, in a suit filed today by E. H. Price Co., a real estate firm of Sarasota, Fla., in Federal court for $900,000. The suit is the result of a Florida land development near Sarasota known as Venice.

The complaint, which will be filed tomorrow morning, according to Vincent T. Follmer, accuses Webb with having "misappropriated and converted" $574,000 of the Brotherhood's money, which was to have been paid the Price Co., to his own use. Huston, who is said to be a very close friend of Webb, is charged with acting "in concert with Webb to the disadvantage and detriment of the said Brotherhood."

The suit charges that in September, 1925, the Brotherhood entered into a contract with the Price Co. to purchase 50,000 acres north of Sarasota, which was to be developed and known as Venice. The Price Co. was to receive the usual 5 per cent commission. The entire acreage involved the expenditure of $15,000,000.

Following this agreement, the land boom blew up, a hurricane exploded

HIDES DUTY SPLITS RANKS OF SENATORS

Rifts Occur on Both Sides of Aisle When Leather Tariff Is Argued.

COST OF SHOES IS CITED

(Associated Press.)

A rift in both Republican and Democratic ranks occurred yesterday in the Senate as debate was begun on provisions in the tariff bill to levy import taxes on hides, leathers and shoes, all of which have been permitted free entry into the United States for years.

Senators Oddie, of Nevada, a Republican regular; Howell, of Nebraska, Republican independent, and Bratton, of New Mexico, a Democrat, took up the cudgel for a hide tariff exceeding that of 10 per cent ad valorem proposed by the finance committee and the House bills and for rates that would be only compensatory on leathers and shoes.

Senator Goldsborough, a Republican regular, from the leather-tanning State of Maryland, and Senator Hawes, a Democrat from the shoe center of St. Louis, opposed a duty on hides, with the former coming out for a higher levy on sole leather than that carried in the pending bill. The House measure provides rates on leather ranging from 12½ to 30 per cent and 20 per cent on shoes. The finance committee left the shoe duty the same, but made the levies on leather 15 to 20 per cent.

Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, opposed a duty on hides. He read telegrams from the International and Brown Shoe companies of St. Louis, saying a hide duty of 6 cents a pound would add 25 cents a pair to the cost of producing shoes and increase the American shoe bill over $100,000,000.

It would result in increasing the shoe bill of New York City, he said, by $5,400,000 a year; Chicago, $2,840,000; St. Louis, $763,200; Baltimore, $747,000, and Boston, $700,000.

Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, started a brief controversy

HOOVER HAITIAN QUIZ PLAN HIT IN SENATE

Proposal for Commission of Seven Is Stricken Out in Committee.

$50,000 IS AUTHORIZED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which Senator Borah is chairman, yesterday handed its backhanded jab at President Hoover's commission form of Government.

It struck out of the resolution authorizing a commission of seven to investigate conditions in Haiti any suggestion that it sanctioned the procedure, and instead just authorized an appropriation of $50,000 for the President to spend as he sees fit.

Some time ago Mr. Hoover reported that conditions were not as they should be in the island republic and asked authorization for a commission to investigate. It was his intention, he said, to appoint members of both houses on the commission. It passed the House before Christmas, and since that time one has quit hearing what is happening in Haiti.

The Senate committee decided that it did not want to be linked with the investigation in any way and so amended the resolution that it would not be. But if the President wanted $50,000 the committee was willing to give him that.

Discussion in the committee, it is understood, raised the point of why an investigation in Haiti to ascertain conditions is necessary after this Government has exercised a protectorate for fifteen years.

The committee's attitude toward commissions follows closely upon the House leaders' refusal to give the President a joint congressional committee to handle his prohibition enforcement program. Subsequently, House leaders have made known that this was not simply their attitude upon this particular request but that they intended to scrutinize closely all requests for committees and com-

This morning the two women who ran the place were arraigned before Justice of the Peace James P. of the Anglo-American understanding and it is understood that they were given the fullest explanations on this subject last night at the dinner attended by Secretary Stimson, Ambassador Morrow, Premier MacDonald, Foreign Secretary Henderson and Foreign Minister Briand.

Grandi Bombshell Expected.

Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, at tomorrow's conference session will probably cause a stir by stating that it is futile to talk about naval "needs" in an absolute rather than a relative sense. Naval needs depend upon possible opponents, in Grandi's view, and he is expected to state, therefore, that Italy declines now or later to mention figures at all, but propose to build up to a one-power standard to place Italy on equal terms at sea with the strongest continental nation.

Grandi is also understood to have told Briand tonight, although he may not make public reference to this at such an early stage, that it is futile to discuss a Mediterranean pact of any kind under present circumstances. First, let there be a settlement of all outstanding Franco-Italian differences and then, but only as a crown or coping stone of complete political agreement, a pact of friendship and amity can be made. This view has somewhat exercised the French since they have been pressing hard on the subject of a Mediterranean pact, and no political agreement of any kind apparently in Grandi's mind is possible here.

League Again Stumbling Block.

Already the United States Senate and the French Chamber of Deputies are casting their shadows before. Is the League of Nations and the future league disarmament conference to be mentioned in any final treaty which may result from this conference? If so, say some, the United States Senate will not ratify the treaty. If not, say the French delegates, the chamber of deputies will not ratify it.

While, as stated above, the delegates at tomorrow's conference session will fight shy of technical points of difference, the problem of national ratios upon which the conference will ultimately split, if it does split, emerged in a statement by the highest French naval authority that France will require twelve 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruisers, five for convoy duty in the Mediterranean between France and her colonies, three to ply in the Atlantic between Morocco and the West Indies, and four for the Levant and as an escort for the French battlei fleet.

The French have submitted a memerandum to the British on the question of colonial responsibilities in connection with the length of the coast line to defend, and in this document it is urged that the British and French standpoints should be identical, because their interests are the same and are unlike those of the United States, Italy and Japan.

Japanese Sitting Tight.

While other delegations are all entangled in technicalities already, even if at the moment intent on glossing them over while new formulas are devised, the Japanese are sitting tight and doing nothing at all. A visit to them today of Secretary of the Navy Adams, Ambassador Dawes and Senators Robinson and Reed was merely of a social character.

The Japanese are quietly disclaiming any interest in the problems under discussion and appear pleased at their present position of relative obscurity. But at the right time, later in the conference, back they will come to their demand for a 7-to-10 ratio in big cruisers and a good many veteran observers of these conferences are already convinced that they will stick to their guns and get what they want.

French Getting Their Way.

Passing from the actual developments of today to the general atmosphere of the conference, the most striking aspect is the way in which the British and American delegations have so far yielded to French wishes. Already the conference bears on the surface no relation to the Anglo-American discussions which concerned themselves solely with naval questions.

It has become political in scope and covers the widest possible ground, and the French contention has always been that political difficulties will have to be ironed out before there's any use talking about ratios or tonnage in detail. So far has this contention triumphed that there seems no reason to doubt the French claim that for ten days or two weeks the conference will be political in character, and that arguments about fleets in detail have been indefinitely postponed.

It would be a mistake, however, to assume from this that the British and American delegations have surrendered anything of importance to France. The position appears to be rather that out of a wish to placate the French and to convince them that the conference is no Anglo-American frameup both the British and Americans are leaning over backward to give France all the rope and scope she wishes to develop her own viewpoint in her own way.

No Agenda Yet Arranged.

This may explain MacDonald's much criticized failure to prepare any advance agenda. There is still no agenda and nobody yet knows what course the conference will take, or indeed where it will begin, but in the early stages it seems Tardieu will call the turn and the conference will follow where it listeth, so far as the subjects of discussion are concerned.

It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that the delay before the thorny points of naval disagreement are tackled is to some extent welcomed by the Americans. They, and perhaps other delegates, may not be unwilling to take up some days, perhaps even a fortnight, in discussing political questions that may be incapable of solution, and which in any case do not directly concern America, in order that the intervening time may be usefully used in privately preparing for the real work to follow. Certainly the conference is not ripe to tackle stark realities. Divergencies between the powers are too serious, and no formula has yet been devised, or at any rate accepted, that would bridge the gulfs.

FRANCE ASKS NAVAL GLOBAL AGREEMENT

Tardieu Seeks Compromise on Sea-Power Limitations by Categories.

IDEA AGREED TO BY U. S.

London, Jan. 22 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Compromise between naval limitation by categories and by global tonnage, first proposed by France at Geneva, was pushed hard today by Premier Andre Tardieu and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand in private conversations with the British, Japanese and Italian delegates.

The French delegates had the support of the American delegation, such a compromise having been accepted as reasonable by the United States.

According to the French thesis, tonnage in the four main categories would not be rigidly fixed, 25 per cent leeway being left for any change of mind on the part of a power signing an agreement with the understanding that other contracting parties be given notice of such change of intentions.

Compromise Is Stressed.

The principle of compromise, however, rather than the percentage to be allowed for shifting tonnage from one category to another, was kept in the forefront by the principal French delegates in today's conversations in keeping with the general desire at this stage of the conference to keep negotiations in a sufficiently fluid state to prevent any serious jams.

The French conversations began this morning between M. Tardieu and Mr. MacDonald where the French memorandum of December 20 and the British reply of January 10 were studied in detail in the light of the tentative Anglo-American agreement. It was decided between the two premiers that the most useful efforts on the eve of tomorrow's confessions of faith by all five powers would be to discuss the French sliding scale and use it as a basis for other conversations, the chief purpose of which is to prevent any power from going on record tomorrow on anything, particularly figures which might make a compromise difficult later on.

M. Tardieu was sufficiently satisfied with a conversation he had this afternoon with former Premier Reijuro Wakatsuki and a similar one that Mr. Briand had with Senor Grandi to admit this evning upon returning to the Hotel Carlton that his chief interest today lay in developing this theme.

News Report Erroneous.

The French premier's concentration on a principle of naval measurement which may prove useful in settling difficulties between American and British contentions respecting battle ships and cruisers led to an erroneous report that M. Tardieu has been busy settling differences between America and Great Britain. This report brought a formal denial from M. Tardieu.

If, as M. Tardieu intimated tonight, the British are favorably disposed toward the French compromise, today's conversations may prove of far-reaching import. M. Tardieu was careful to say that none of the French activities today could be stated in figures.

Moore Nominated Envoy to Poland

Pennsylvanian to Be First U. S. Ambassador to That Country.

(Associated Press.)

Yesterday Alexander P. Moore, of Pennsylvania, was nominated by President Hoover to be Ambassador to Poland.

Congress just elevated the Warsaw post from a legation to an embassy. Mr. Moore was formerly Ambassador to Spain and more recently to Peru.

Shortly before sending the nomination of Mr. Moore to the Senate President Hoover signed the bill establishing the embassy status at Warsaw.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the nominations of four ministers to foreign lands. The ministers: Gilbert Baker Stockton, of Florida, to Austria; John Motley Morehead, of New York, to Sweden; Ralph H. Booth, of Michigan, to Denmark, and Henry Wharton Shoemaker, of Pennsylvania, to Bulgaria.

Kunz and Son Indicted On Conspiracy Charge

Chicago, Jan. 22 (A.P.).— Indictments charging Representative Stanley H. Kunz and his son, Stanley, jr., with conspiracy were returned late today, and the representative will be asked to return here for trial, waiving extradition, Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin said.

Lavin, in charge of the investigation of alleged sale of civil service promotions, said the indictment grew out of a charge made by a candidate for a police job who did not get a place in the department and involved passage of $400 between the candidate and the representative, which the latter has said was merely a loan that has since been repaid.

DELEGATE STRESSES ITALIAN VIEWPOINT

Need of Keeping Supply Lane Open in Mediterranean Is Pointed Out.

FRENCH PARITY IS ISSUE

London, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Foreign Secretary Dino Grandi of Italy, during numerous exchanges of visits today, was understood to have supplied American Ambassador Gibson, Foreign Minister Briand and Prime Minister MacDonald with further precise data concerning the Italian claim to parity with France.

He was believed to have given reasons why Italy considers it impossible to yield on this point, although probably she will not press it to excess in the first sitting of the conference tomorrow.

Giving in general terms Italian naval needs was not particularly easy, for the Italian delegation proposes to maintain that the needs of each country are not absolute, but are relative in proportion to the forces of other countries.

Food Problem Is Urged.

Some, indeed, believe that even parity with France is insufficient guarantee of the security of Italy unless the suggestion of President Hoover is adopted that foodships receive immunity in case of war.

Italy, it was said, could be starved in a few weeks if an enemy force prevented her from being refurnished by sea, which can only occur on the Mediterranean.

France has suggested that a Mediterranean pact might obviate difficulty in agreement on this subject. It was understood that Italy is favorable to any agreement capable of assuring lasting peace, but thinks such a pact should be preceded by a Franco-Italian political understanding and a treaty of friendship and arbitration between the two countries.

Negotiations aiming at this result have been in progress between Rome and Paris for two years without approaching solution of the two main problems under discussion, namely, rectification of the frontiers between Libya and Tunis and the status of Italians living in French colonies in northern Africa.

Understanding First Needed.

According to the Italian view, it would be illogical to understake negotiations of a Mediterranean pact without first reaching an understanding on these two questions which have a Mediterranean character.

If some unforeseen event does not come to break the present deadlock, some observers wonder whether the best way out of the difficulty would be to have the conference leave out the Franco-Italian problems and limit discussion and agreement on limitation of naval armaments to the United States, England and Japan with the understanding that France and Italy pledge themselves to continue outside the conference negotiations for a treaty of friendship and non-aggression.

Action on Reparations Approved by Mueller

Berlin, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Chancellor Mueller, after a full report from the German delegation to the second Hague reparations conference, today officially declared that the German government was wholly satisfied with the conduct of the negotiations by its representatives and unanimously approved the results of the conference.

He said that bills embodying the necessary measures for ratification of the reparations settlement would be expedited and submitted to the reichsrath for discussion early next week.

Paraguay, Bolivia State Clash Views

Envoys Uphold Claims of Self-Defense in Recent Moves.

(Associated Press.)

While the Paraguayan charge d'affaires in Washington was at the State Department yesterday seeking an expression of opinion on the recent clash of Bolivian and Paraguayan troops in the Chaco Boreal region, Eduardo Diez de Medina, Bolivian Minister, issued a statement denying Bolivia's culpability in the affair.

Pablo M. Ynsfran, Paraguayan charge, notified the department that he feared military activities in the Chaco Boreal, since the armed clash in which one Bolivian and one Paraguayan soldier were said to have been killed, might lead to a general outbreak.

The clash occurred in the vicinity of the Paraguayan post Isla Poi on January 16. Since then representatives of the two governments here have issued statements naming self-defense as the motives of their engaged troops.

MELLON WITHHOLDS ENFORCEMENT VIEW

on industrial alcohol withdrawals, and charged that the bureau had failed to oust agents who violated the search and seizure law. Mr. Doran rejoined that Mr. Schafter had not charged any violation of law in the withdrawal of alcohol and was not entitled to the information. He declared the department had always disciplined agents who violated its regulations and the laws.

Shouting at Mr. Schafer, who in turn roared at him, the commissioner said he did not intend to stand for charges made against agents for violating the sanctity of the home when the acts were committed by sheriffs, constables and deputy constables.

A motion by Mr. Schafer to compel the commissioner to give information on alcohol withdrawals resulted in confusion. After exchanges between various members of the committee and Mr. Doran, the group decided by a vote of 12 to 8 to postpone action until an executive meeting. Chairman Williamson thereupon adjourned the meeting and called for another to be held behind closed doors today.

Mellon Indorses Move.

The gray-haired Treasury Secretary sat slumped in a chair, his face expressionless, as he read in a low voice the declaration that placing of the prohibition enforcement bureau in the Treasury Department had been an illogical choice of Congress.

Assistant Secretary Lowman, who has charge of prohibition, and Commissioner Doran stood close at each side of Mellon as he read and then turned to his questioners.

Mr. Mellon indorsed the Williamson bill to provide for the transfer, and also for the creation of a new bureau to handle industrial alcohol and medicinal liquor permits in the Treasury Department. It was the duty of the Justice Department, he said, to prosecute violators of the law, declaring the preparation of cases by one agency and the prosecution of them by another constituted an anomaly.

Igoe Quizzes Treasury Head.

Representative Igoe (Republican), Illinois, asked whether he believed the Prohibition Bureau under the Treasury had done everything possible to enforce the law. Mr. Mellon replied that he did not believe the question about the efficiency of the agency was pertinent to the question of transfer.

"Do you believe that the Prohibition Bureau has done everything possible to enforce the law?" Mr. Igoe insisted.

"I am sure we have made every effort to carry out our responsibility," the Secretary answered.

"Then you think prohibition can be enforced?" Mr. Igoe asked.

"As I say, this is a matter of legislation before us," Mr. Mellon replied, straightening up in his chair. "Prohibition is a very controversial subject and I don't see that this is any place to express personal opinions."

Doran Whispers to Mellon.

As Representative Schafer began to interrogate Mr. Mellon, Commissioner Doran leaned frequently to the right ear of the Secretary before answers were forthcoming. Apparently dissatisfied with the Secretary's replies to questions regarding information on withdrawals of industrial alcohol by certain concerns, the Wisconsin representative said the Williamson bill should be amended to provide that the Treasury submit a report to Congress on prohibition agents who had been charged with violating the search and seizure provisions of the Constitution and those who had not been convicted of violating them.

Mr. Doran interrupted Secretary Mellon as he began to answer.

The commissioner declared the Treasury "had never failed to discipline officers guilty of derelictions."

Wets Introduce Bills.

Representative Black (Democrat), New York, yesterday introduced a bill to permit any State to dispense intoxicating liquors for nonbeverage purposes under such laws and regulations as the State might adopt.

A bill to prevent prosecution in Federal and State courts for the same offense and also to bar admission of evidence obtained by unreasonable search and seizure was introduced by Representative Sabath (Democrat), Illinois.

not been changed—that is, that the casks had not been opened and destroyed and the liquor put in cases. After a conference with Assistant United States Attorney Robert B. Watts it was agreed that we did not have sufficient proof of this, and the prohibition agents decided to try to seize the liquor without a warrant.

"Apparently that was done. Apparently the liquor was surrendered to them.

"We were never informed of the seizure, so we could not act. If we had been informed, we could only have made a complaint to the United States Attorney."

Mr. Stuart added that "the customs is only required to examine part of each lot—usually 10 per cent of the individual packages, often less." Some 500,000 shipments of about 5,000,000 separate packages enter the port each year, he said, and obviously each package could not be opened and examined for contraband.

M'DONALD TELLS U.S. OF LONDON PARLEY

Radio Speech Emphasizes Quality of America's Delegation.

TARDIEU TO TALK TODAY

New York, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Speaking from the prime minister's chair in the British Empire cabinet rooms at 10 Downing street, London, Premier Ramsay MacDonald today assured an American radio audience of his country's desire to cooperate in disarmament. His address was carried over the National Broadcasting chain in this country.

After recounting how Great Britain has reduced her armies and air forces since the treaty of Versailles and now has met with the other four great powers in an effort to reach a decision to limit naval armament, the premier said:

"We can only banish war from our midst if we will stay together, if we agree among ourselves to do that. The alternative to agreement is rivalry. The alternative to limitation is competitive building; the end of competitive building is war."

He also paid a tribute to the United States delegation to the limitations conferences.

"I believe," he said, "that never has such a group been sent over to this country by you. I can give you a most admirable report of them. They have been everywhere warmly received, and we are glad on our part to show how much we value their presence and the help that they are going to be to us. Our interest is the cause of peace and our only rivalry is to do the greatest service."

M. Tardieu, Prime Minister of France, is to address the next audience tomorrow starting at 1:15 p. m., Eastern standard time.

Dry Raids Disturb Ship Crew's Sleep

Men and Officers of French Boat Protest Against Night Raiders.

Paris, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The officers and crew of the French liner De Grasse, who want to enjoy their hard-earned slumber undisturbed, have entered a formal portest with the French consul in New York against night raids on the ship by American prohibition agents.

Information reaching the chief office of the French line here is that the protest recalls provisions of French law forbidding that homes be searched before dawn even in the case of criminal warrants. It asks the consul "to draw the attention of competent American officials to the activities of prohibition agents and to the desire of the crews of French ships to have their hours of sleep respected."

Another protest from the De Grasse, written by a member of the postal staff, was sent to the ministry of posts. It demands some sort of retaliation on American ships in French ports.

It is understood that the French Line is taking up the protests with the ministry of merchant marine and eventually may request that representations be made to the United States Government.

Bay State Faces Dry Senator Fight

Republican State Leader Says Prohibition Is Main Issue.

(Associated Press.)

Louis K. Liggett, Republican national committeeman for Massachusetts, after a conference with President Hoover yesterday said the dominant problem in the election of a senator to succeed Senator Gillett was prohibition.

In Massachusetts, he said, only 25 per cent of the Republican voters take part in the primaries and they are mostly dry. This situation, he added, probably will mean an effort of the Republican party to elect a dry senator in a wet State.

Asked whether he thought Calvin Coolidge would be a candidate, he replied: "I know Mr. Coolidge very well, but I would be the last man on earth to say anything to him about running for the Senate. I don't know what would happen but I'd bet that it would be unpleasant."

LIQUOR RAID STORIES CONFLICT AT INQUIRY

Woman Asserts Agent Was Searching House Before Warrant Was Seen.

OFFICERS SCOUT CLAIMS

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Testimony that one of the prohibition agents killed in a raid on the residence of George W. Moore last Saturday already was in the house before any one appeared with a search warrant at the front door was given late today by Mrs. Moore at the inquest.

Mrs. Moore also testified that lights were on in the front rooms of the residence, where she said she was lying ill on a couch. Her husband and daughter, Ollie, 14, were in the room, she said, when she saw a man with a gun in his hand in the kitchen.

"Look out, George," she said she cried. "There is a man going to shoot you." She said she then fainted and knew nothing more. The daughter told practically the same story.

Raid in Daylight, Agents Claim.

Testimony that the raid was made during daylight was given by two survivors of the raiding party.

It was the defense contention that the agents had illegally attempted to make the search with a daytime warrant. The document, it was shown, had the usual printed form "day or night," but the reference to night had been stricken out in ink.

James S. Kugler, one of the quartet of agents who tried to search the Moore place, testified the agents left prohibition headquarters with the warrant at 5:50 p. m., and needed no lights on their automobiles to reach the Moore place.

W. M. McNulty, another member of the raiding party, corroborated Kugler's testimony, except to say that there was a light in the rear of the Moore house.

Kugler testified Moncure held a search warrant in his hand as he knocked on the door of a screened-in porch in front of the Moore home. He said Moore came to the front door and stepped out onto the porch.

Kugler said Moncure called out: "All right, George, open up. I've got a search warrant for this place."

Kugler said Moore then took a step forward, then turned and entered the house, slamming the door. Moncure then snatched open the screen door, Kugler testified, and started in.

Tells of Shooting.

Before Moncure reached the front door a shot was fired, Kugler said, and Moncure fell to the floor. Kugler said he crouched on the floor and then ran to a filling station to telephone for police.

McNulty testified that before he and Patterson reached the back door they heard a shot. Patterson immediately ran in the back door.

Looking through a window, McNulty said he saw a man with a shotgun moving toward the rear of the house. Shortly afterward McNulty said he heard a second shot and then a groan.

Body of Slain Capital Agent Due Tomorrow

The body of Robert K. Moncure, 33-year-old prohibition agent, formerly of Washington, who was killed Saturday while in a liquor raid in West Palm Beach, Fla., will be placed in a vault in Arlington Cemetery tomorrow. The body will arrive from Florida tomorrow morning and will be taken to the cemetery. It will be interred in two months.

Commissioner Doran yesterday notified relatives here that the arrival of the body would be deferred until tomorrow because of the inquest at West Palm Beach. The widow of the slain agent will accompany the body here.

Mr. Moncure is survived by his widow, a son Robert, three sisters and a brother. He lived in Washington for several years before being sent to the Florida enforcement office.

Personal Rum Injunctions Are Held Unconstitutional

Nebraska Judge Says Section in Dry Act Has Been "Dead Letter" for 10 Years; Declares Supreme Court Must Pass on Question.

Omaha, Nebr., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The suggestion that the United States Supreme Court pass on the constitutionality of that section of the national prohibition act which permits personal injunctions against habitual offenders was made today by Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough after he had ruled it was unconstitutional. He said the high court must eventually rule on the question.

Judge Woodrough's opinion was given in the case of Frank Cunningham, of Scottsbluff, Nebr., against whom the Government had brought personal injunction proceedings after he had been arrested several times as a bootlegger. He dismissed the case, holding that "jury trial, guaranteed by the Constitution as the bulwark of liberty and a shield against the oppression of government, simply fades out of the picture" so far as the injunction section of the law is concerned.

The court, in a nine-page opinion, said that the section of the law which permits personal injunctions has been a "deal letter" for ten years, because it shocks common sense and common understanding of the Constitution. Had the court granted the Government's request to enjoin Cunningham from bootlegging the latter, upon a subsequent arrest, could be jailed for contempt of court for violation of a Federal injunction.

"There runs through the act the idea that the man himself, the human being is a nuisance, and so beyond the pale of the right of trial by jury," Judge Woodrough said.

His opinion is directly contrary to that of Federal Judge T. C. Munger, of Lincoln, who has held that personal injunctions in such cases are constitutional.

RESPECT FOR LAWS CRIME GROUP AIM

Wickersham Informs Radio Audience of Progress by Commission.

DRY ISSUE NOT SUPREME

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Wickersham of the Law Enforcement Commission explained to the country last night over the radio that the real purpose of the commission "is to bring forth, if it is possible, deep-seated and positive reforms which will decrease criminality in the United States and secure greater respect for law."

"Despite much clamor and many lurid statements," he said, "the enforcement of prohibition is only a part, and not the most important part, of our task. Complaints of the inadequacy of the American system of criminal prosecution and judicial procedure were acute before the eighteenth amendment was adopted."

Speaking under the joint auspices of the National League of Women Voters and the National Broadcasting Co., Mr. Wickersham said the first inquiry the commission addressed itself to was:

"What is the crime wave so constantly spoken of in current discussions and why is it not more effectively dealt with? Especially what are the difficulties found in the enforcement of the prohibition law and what improvements may be suggested for speedy adoption, to remove obstacles to the administration of this particular law?"

He related the various ramifications into which the subjects led and told of the procedure of the commission in setting up various committees to study the wide variety of interlaced problems.

He reiterated his denial that the fourth recommendation would rob a citizen of the right of trial by jury.

Six Men in Crew Feared Lost in Wreck of Tug

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Six Vancouver men, missing since their departure from here last Wednesday for Bellingham on the tug Farquhar, were given up as lost today, with identification of wreckage near Blunden Island as that of the tug.

The men were Capt. I. G. Breeze, Mate Albert Gray, Chief Engineer Stenzon Iveson, Second Engineer R. Ivey, Deck Hand G. W. Stanford and Cook D. Wills. A gale swept the Gulf of Georgia last week.

GUARD CUTTER RAMS CANADA MOTORSHIP

Taiheiyo Beached on One of Guadelupe Islands, Her Master Reports.

BILLARD WILL NOT TALK

Vancouver, British Columbia, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Owners of the Vancouver deep sea motor boat Taiheiyo were informed today that the boat was pursued and rammed by the United States Coast Guard vessel Bonham on January 17, near the Guadelupe Islands, off the coast of Mexico.

The Taiheiyo now is beached on one of the Guadelupe Islands, her master, Capt. J. Butler, reported.

Protest has been sent to Ottawa concerning the incident.

Capt. Butler reported his vessel was in ballast bound for home when she was pursued and run down by the Bonham.

He states she had no liquor aboard, nor had she carried any on the trip.

Advices received here said that the Taiheiyo was 150 miles south of the United States-Mexican line, at a point near the Guadelupe Islands, when the incident occurred. Another small craft, it was reported, saved the rammed boat from sinking by putting lines on her and towing her to a beach.

The Taiheiyo is a 65-foot motor vessel, built in Vancouver last summer and sent south to engage in Mexican coastwise operation. She was on her way back here after a four-month absence when rammed.

(Associated Press.)

Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the Coast Guard, said last night that no report of the cutter Bonham pursuing or ramming the Canadian motorboat Taiheiyo on January 17 had been received at Coast Guard headquarters. He declined to discuss press reports pending receipt of official advices from the Bonham.

Coast Guard officers were at a loss to understand how it was possible for the Bonham to ram a deep-sea motorboat under way. They said it was one of the slow cutters, having a maximum speed of 10 knots an hour.

They thought possibly there may have been some confusion in the name of the boat or its identity as a Coast Guard vessel.

COLD ADDS MENACE TO FLOOD SECTIONS

Near-Zero Weather Causes Deaths in Arkansas and Missouri.

PLANE USED IN INDIANA

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—In the face of near-zero weather, which made the situation hourly more acute, rescue parties tonight battled from a new front to reach several hundred persons marooned by flood and ice in the St. Francis and Big Lake overflows in southeastern Missouri and northeastern Arkansas.

Futile efforts were made today to force boats through the ice-covered overflow from the water's edge. Rescue crews set out from Blytheville, Ark., and started in search of open water on which rescue boats could be launched. It was planned to establish temporary camps at Dell and southwest of Blytheville.

Reports indicated the plight of the farmers marooned in the lowlands was becoming more serious with the rapid drop in temperature. One report said a group of about twenty families, hedged in on a knoll in the Little River district, had only a meager supply of food and fuel.

A dispatch from Holcomb, Mo., reported subzero temperatures in Dunklin County—where the St. Francis River smashed its levees last Saturday. Homes housing refugees were running short of fuel.

The first death in the flood was reported today. Allie Slaughter, 30, Dunklin farmer, fell through ice in Tallahatchie County.

Man Once Found Guilty Of Manslaughter Freed

Chicago, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—George Maloney, once convicted of manslaughter for the death of Hugh "Stubby" McGovern and William "Gunner" McFadden, shot to death in the Granada cafe during a New Year's Eve celebration a year ago, was freed today.

Maloney was convicted last May and sentenced to fourteen years, prisonment, but gained a new trial. Today the State's attorneys asked dismissal of the two murder charges, declaring they could not trace the fatal weapon and had failed to gather further evidence.

BYRD IN NEED OF AID TO LEAVE ANTARCTIC

America. But there is at present no indication that the ice pack will be sufficiently open.

"We are therefore asking the assistance of the State Department to solicit the cooperation of the Norwegian government in making available to Admiral Byrd the aid of the powerful whaling vessels now fishing north of the ice pack. Five such vessels are now within striking distance of Little America, designed especially for operations in the Ancartic. One of these ships can force her way through the pack and negotiate the return voyage northward in ten days under normal conditions.

"To avoid spending another year in ice barrier the expedition must depart from its base at Little America not later than February 20. If aid is necessary to ensure its departure we must supply that aid. The Ross Sea began to freze last year on February 22."

Kidnapers Free College Student

Girl at Smith Tells Story of Being Held Captive for Two Hours.

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 22 (A.P.). Virtually snatched from the campus, a Smith College girl whose name was being carefully shielded today, was kidnaped last night and held captive nearly two hours by two men and a woman.

William Allan Neilson, president of the college, announced the kidnaping today, "to allay rumors which I understand are in circulation."

The girl told college officials she was unable to describe her captors. She said she did not have a good view of them before she was dragged into the automobile, where she was immediately blindfolded. Because of the blindfold she was also unable to describe the course taken by the automobile nor the house to which she was taken.

Millionaire Called In Showgirl Suit

Order Issued for Summons Against Whitehead in $250,000 Action.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—An order for summons against Conkey P. Whitehead, millionaire sportsman of Atlanta and New York, in a $250,000 suit of Frances Porter, show girl, was issued here today. Mr. Whitehead's yacht, the Malvern, arrived in Lake Worth this afternoon, but process servers were unable to locate the owner.

The suit was filed in Miami last night by attorneys for Miss Porter, but its nature was not made public. Mr. Whitehead's bride of a few weeks, the former Miss Marion Hughes, of New York, did not come here from Miami on the yacht. It was understood the millionaire sportsman made the trip to meet her father.

Difficulties between Mr. Whitehead and Miss Porter began about a year ago, when they were aboard the yacht in Havana.

Bank Loss of $132,266 Seen After Chief Dies

Gaffney, S. C., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The First National Bank of Gaffney whose president, Maynard Smythe, was found shot to death January 14, has lost $132,266.04 "due to manipulation of checks and drafts," a statement issued today by the directors said, following examination by national bank examiners who declared the institution solvent.

Smythe was found shot in his garage. A discharged pistol belonging to the bank, was near him.

The bank has remained open. A coroner's jury found Smythe's death was accidental.

Minister Faces Contempt Count

Continuance Is Granted as Indecent-Book Charge Is Dropped.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Cited for contempt of court, the Rev. Philip Yarrow, who is carrying on a campaign against indecent literature, today was given until February 4 to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for declaring he "had as much chance of getting a square deal in the municipal courts as a cake of ice has in the mouth of Mount Pelee."

At the same time the Rev. Mr. Yarrow was given his continuance, the State dismissed its case against John Youngman, bookstore clerk, against whom the militant minister was the State's chief witness. Youngman was charged with possessing indecent literature after the Rev. Mr. Yarrow, as head of the Illinois Vigilance Society had caused his arrest.

In dismissing the case against Youngman, the State's attorney said he felt the court would be prejudiced against testimony as a result of the contempt action.

Farm Marketing Act Is Assailed

Kansas City Trade Body Brands It as Unfair; Attacks Board.

Kansas City, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—A resolution condemning the agricultural marketing act as "unfair" and of "socialistic character" and acts of the Federal Farm Board as "arbitrary and inconsistent" today was sent by the directors of the Kansas City Board of Trade to the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington.

The Farm Board, the resolution asserted, "is using Government aid and public funds to interfere with prices and legitimate business, to foster unfair competition, to build uneconomic facilities and to endanger honest business enterprise and investment.

"Business men everywhere should take notice of these things," the resolution said. "If they can be done in one line of business they can be done in others. Business should set its face against such extreme measures."

while sledding near her home. Her sled collided with another. She received bruises on the head and lacerations of the hands.

Urge Street Work.

Clarence J. Hartson, 50 years old, of Capitol Heights, Md., was injured last night when a tire he was inflating blew out. The rim struck him on the leg and forehead. He was treated at Casualty Hospital.

The Merchants and Manufacturers Association yesterday urged the District Commissioners to have the downtown streets cleared of snow and ice before more accumulates to further hinder traffic. In a letter to the Commissioners the body pointed out that the packed snow around the curbs is a great hindrance to parking.

Employes of the Street Cleaning and Highway Departments were still fighting yesterday to clear away the snow; but there is no intention to turn an extraordinary force of men to the task, officials said, beyond the 390 men now so employed.

Won't Spend Large Sums.

Inspection reports to supervising officials showed that all of the principal highways are passable for traffic, with many streets in the downtown area entirely clear except for snow along the curbs. District officials say they will not spend large sums of money for the work at this time, pointing out that the fiscal year has considerable more time to run, and other snowfalls may be expected.

One official, declaring that parked automobiles prevented the cleaners from removing snow at the curb, before it turned to ice, referred to the city streets as a "public garage." Removal of this ice, he said, would be almost as costly as removing as much paving. The officials do not think conditions are especially bad, and are counting on a rise in temperature to melt the snow and ice; they ask if the Merchants Association would be willing to pay, in taxes, the additional thousands of dollars which would be required to remove the snow completely from the streets.

PRISON REFORM BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE

Program of $7,000,000 Mapped by Administration Causes Debate.

WETS FLAY PROHIBITION

(Associated Press.)

The administration's $7,000,000 program to enlarge and improve the Federal penal system was approved by the House yesterday as a climax to debate in which wet members blamed prohibition for present overcrowded conditions.

The program was incorporated in five bills, all of which were passed without record votes and sent to the Senate.

Reorganization of the administration of the prisons, establishment of three new institutions, creation of a single parole board, and diversification of employment for prisoners to relieve idleness, constituted the program. The House also passed a bill to remove the age limit at the United States Industrial Reformatory, at Chillicothe, Ohio, and one to authorize Federal judges to appoint probation officers.

In the measures providing for setting up industries in the penal institutions, the House struck out all provisions whereby prison-made goods might compete with free labor. The products of the institutions to be established would be used only by the Government and for prison purposes.

No authorization for appropriations was carried in the measures for the new institutions.

'FAUST,' 'CARMEN' CLOSE OPERA HERE

American Company Adds to Laurels in Presentation of Final Classics.

ORCHESTRA IS LAUDED

The American Grand Opera Company closed its season with "Faust" at Poli's Theater last night after having presented "Carmen" at the matinee performance.

"Faust," with its succession of arias and ballads endeared to many in the audience by familiarity with this classic, was a fitting climax to an operatic program which has run the gamut from a new American opera "Yolanda of Cyprus" to last night's musical drama.

Charles Kullman as Faust and Natalie Hall as Marguerite made an entrancing operatic team and read new vigor and beauty into their roles.

Moncrieff Scores Success.

John Moncrieff as Mephistopheles proved himself a worthy successor to George Huston, who sang the role last year. Mr. Moncrieff has a basso of beautiful quality and his acting was realistic and powerful.

Frederick Roberts as "Faust the Philosopher," Mark Daniels as "Valentine," Norman Oberg as "Wagner" and Helen Golden as "Martha" lived up to the classic requirements for these parts.

The orchestra was under the baton of Isaac Van Grove, who has conducted four operas since Monday night. The scenery and costumes designed by Robert Edmond Jones were true as to period and most artistic in effect.

"Carmen" Well Presented.

The afternoon performance of "Carmen" exhibited still another facet of the young genius of the American Opera Company. The gay lilt of the music, the stirring scenes and exciting moments of this most popular of Bizet's operas brought Bettina Hall singing "Carmen" and Charles Hedley as "Don Jose" into the forefront of the afternoon.

Mr. Hedley took the role of "Don Jose" almost at a moment's notice as he had to substitute for Mr. Kullman, who was taken out of the cast so he might sing "Faust" last night in place of Clifford Newdall, scheduled for the part, who was taken ill yesterday morning. He was excellent in it, too.

Bettina Hall was a bewitching "Carmen" and her exposition of the Spanish enchantress was outstanding. Pressing her closely for feminine honors was Nancy McCord. Willard Schindler was excellent in his "Toreador Song" with its realistic gestures. The chorus work in "Carmen," as well as in "Faust," was of a high order and particularly noticeable was the impeccable enunciation of all.

COUPLE ARE REWED BY SAME MINISTER of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Marjorie W. Hughes, 33 years old, of Balboa, Canal Zone. Then he learned, for the first time, that the first marriage had proved unsuccessful and had ended in a divorce about four years ago.

But both began to regret their separation. Letters were exchanged and soon they decided to make a second attempt to live happily ever after. To clear the slate entirely and begin life together anew, they agred to meet in Washington and have the ceremony performed by the same minister and at the same church where they first became man and wife.

They were even more successful than they had anticipated in repeating the rite. The same witness, Burton Montgomery, sexton of the church, was found still at the same post, and he again witnessed the ceremony.

Another divorced couple, with almost the same names, yet unrelated and not formerly married to each other, were wed yesterday by the Rev A. F. Poore, Methodist Episcopal pastor. They are Arthur T. Thomson, 43 years old, and Ada Elizabeth Thompson, 32 years old. Both were from Philadelphia, and both had obtained divorces in the Quaker City.

authorize the courts to weigh the evidence in cases decided by the commission and to pass on the question of whether the decisions of the commission were reasonable.

President Hanna, of the Capital Traction Co., in protesting against the provision guaranteeing the present rate of fare for two years, reminded the committee that the traction companies now are before the District Supreme Court appealing for a 10-cent cash fare. If the present merger resolution should be adopted, he said, the merged company would lose the increase if granted by the court.

Vice Chairman Hartmann, opposing Hanna's argument, pointed out that a merger would mean an immediate saving of $500,000.

Hanna said that the companies now are earning a reasonable return on only less than half of their valuation.

President Ham, of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., was even more vigorous in his opposition to the two-year clause, saying that his stockholders never would approve a merger plan with this in it.

He pointed out that there had been two fare reductions since 1922, and declared that the property of the companies has been virtually "confiscated" for the last two years.

William McK. Clayton, representing the Federation of Citizens Associations, asked the committee to make reduced fares for school children mandatory, and also free transfers.

Charles Mayner, E. C. Reigel and Mercer B. Thompson also testified. John J. Noonan sent a cable to the committee urging half fares for children.

STEPHEN T. MATHER, PARKS EXPERT, DEAD

Former National Director Succumbs Suddenly at Brookline.

WAS SIGNALLY HONORED

Stephen T. Mather, 63 years old, director of the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior from 1917 to 1928, and signally honored in a Nation-wide movement known as "The Stephen T. Mather Appreciation" to accord him widespread recognition, died suddenly in the Corey Hill Hospital at Brookline, Mass., last night.

Mr. Mather suffered a stroke of apoplexy at a home he maintained in Chicago when he went to that city to vote in the general election in 1928. On his last visit to Washington in early summer he appeared to have improved, but his health during the last few weeks had declined. Several days ago he left another home he maintained at Darien, Conn. to enter the hospital, where he had been under the care of a specialist. He is survived by Mrs. Mather and a daughter.

Mr. Mather achieved prominence as director of the National Park Service, after serving as assistant to Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane from January 22, 1915, to March 22, 1917. Born in San Francisco in 1867, he was graduated in 1887 from the University of California with the degree of bachelor of literature. The degree of doctor of laws was conferred on him by George Washington University in 1921 and the University of California in 1924. He was on the staff of the New York Sun from 1887 to 1893. He was at one time national president of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

He was credited generally with elevating the National Park Service to the influential position it holds today. He donated amounts at various times for the purchase of property in Western States which he subsequently gave to the Government for use as parks.

Attesting to the high esteem in which he was held, many distinguished men and women throughout the Nation created "The Stephen T. Mather Appreciation," to raise an amount between $100,000 and $150,000 to honor him in an appropriate manner for his services to the Nation. The executive committee, with John Hays Hammond as chairman, maintained headquarters here.

Mr. Mather had been the recipient of many honors during his lifetime. One of them was the Cornelius Amory Pugsley gold medal for outstanding public service in national, State, county and municipal parks in 1929.

G. G. DONALDSON OBSEQUIES

Mr. Donaldson established the photographic studio at 925 F street 33 years ago. He resided in Hyattsville. He is survived by two sisters and one brother.

Population of U. S. Put at 121,951,856

(Associated Press.)

The population of the United States at 10:45 a. m. yesterday was estimated by the Census Bureau at 121,951,856.

In the course of the immigration committee's hearing yesterday on the Johnson and Box bills to restrict Western Hemisphere immigration, Chairman Johnson found a need for exact figures on the country's present population. He dispatched a message to the Immigration Bureau and obtained this information:

One birth every 13 seconds.

One death every 28 seconds.

One immigrant entering the country every 1½ minutes.

One immigrant leaving the country every 5 minutes.

The average increase in the country's population, as based on these figures, was placed at 1 every 33 seconds, with the excess of births over deaths estimated at 900,000 annually and the above total estimated.

Mrs. Inez Irwin Tells Of Women as Writers

Prejudice against women has finally died out in the literary field, and the profession of writing is now on a nonsex basis, Inez Haynes Irwin, of New York, declared last night in a Nation-wide radio speech on the National Broadcasting Chain. According to Mrs. Irwin, women rank among the leading figures in every field of modern literature and are no longer considered phenomena because they are women.

Mrs. Irwin, who is the wife of Will Irwin, is a member of the National Council of the National Woman's party. Her address last night was part of the program on the advances women are making toward complete equality.

DR. COOK APPROVED FOR PAROLE, REPORT

Prison Board Said to Have Recommended Release in February.

SENTENCED IN OIL FRAUD

Leavenworth, Kans., Jan. 22 (A.P.). Although official announcement was lacking it was learned on good authority today that a parole has been recommended for Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer and oil promoter, who has spent nearly five years in Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary.

Favorable action on the application of the 65-year-old prisoner for release had been forecast previously because of his excellent prison record and the fact that officials connected with the prosecution offered no objection to clemency.

The findings of the board which heard Dr. Cook's case, along with a host of others, will be forwarded to Washington for action by the Attorney General, who is empowered to grant or reject parole recommendations.

It is believed here that Dr. Cook will be released some time in February, provided the parole is finally approved.

The failing health of the prisoner was understood to have been considered by the parole board in reaching its decision.

Other persons convicted in connection with the oil promotion schemes which brought Dr. Cook's prison term long since have been freed. Federal Judge Wilson, of Fort Worth, has declared Dr. Cook's sentence to be excessive. The jurist sought unsuccessfully nearly two years ago to free Dr. Cook on probation.

Naval Parley Marines Ask Parity in Expenses

London, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—In all the present welter of high diplomacy, pageantry and banqueting here a new and unexpected problem of parity today cropped up in the American delegation to the Naval Conference.

Ten stalwart marines who came over with the delegation have been allowed room and breakfast and also 14 shillings and 8-pence (about $3.50) a day for other meals. The marines look enviously on the girl stenographers who, beside their rooms, have $8 a day for expenses. Unofficially, they think the situation offers opportunity for application for the principle of parity, but Mr. Stimson is busy, the marines are busy and no one seems to know whether anything can be done about it.

Conservatives Regain Slim Halifax Majority

Halifax, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The majority of three held in the House of Assembly at its last session by the Conservative government of Premier E. N. Rhodes, was restored yesterday when Dr. George H. Murphy decisively defeated Robert E. Finn, K. C., Liberal candidate, in the Halifax by-election, for the seat occupied by John F. Mahoney, late minister of natural resources.

The standing in the House is again 23 to 20. A Liberal victory would have deadlocked the parties at 21 to 21, excluding the Conservative speaker.

Indigestion
Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick 'n its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids, 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

You men who would keep trim and fit ...you women who covet the tantalizing curves of the truly modern figure—when tempted to do yourself too well, light a Lucky instead. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

LABOR CHIEFS HEAR HOOVER'S AID OFFER

Californian Is Selected Head of Building Trades of Federation.

17 CRAFTS REPRESENTED

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Heads of 17 building crafts making up the American Federation of Labor's Building Trades Council, today heard that President Hoover had offered them any possible aid in their efforts to settle disagreements within their ranks.

The Chief Executive's good wishes were said to be contained in a letter to Thomas J. Williams, former building department head, and now observer for the Federal Department of Labor. The letter probably will be read at the opening of negotiations here Friday.

M. J. McDonough, of Oakland, Calif., today was elected president of the council. It was said the only question involved in the election was Mr McDonough's willingness to leave California for Washington, headquarters city of the council.

The meeting has been described as the most important in the history of the organization. Members planned to settle numerous disputes arising from rapidly changing construction conditions, the right of certain crafts to do certain jobs and to draft an agreement for settling future misunderstandings.

All conferences have been suspended until the arrival from New Orleans of representatives of the Associated General Contractors of America.

FAR-SEEING and investment-wise apartment house owners install General Electric Refrigerators as a means of insuring their profits and enhancing the value of their properties.

They realize that once they have purchased General Electrics, they are through with expense and worry. The installation cost is nothing. The charge against depreciation is the least. The same is true of expense for repairs or service . . . for General Electric Refrigerators run on, year after year, without attention from anybody—this has been proved, definitely proved, by the most amazing record in the refrigeration industry:

. . . not one owner among the hundreds of thousands has paid a single cent for repairs or service in over three years. The first cost has been the last cost.

Apartment house owners know, too, that General Electric Refrigerators have a fixed value. As equipment, they are always worth their original cost. When the building is sold, full value can be asked . . . and received . . . for these refrigerators.

Their tenants are glad to have the use of the refrigerators they themselves would buy . . . the refrigerators for which the public is today expressing its preference in no uncertain terms. People looking at new apartments are looking at the same time for General Electric Refrigerators in the kitchens. They connect them with superior apartment house service.

They also appreciate the General Electric dependability, its trouble-free, inexpensive operation. They particularly like the individual installations which allow each tenant to defrost her refrigerator when she pleases . . . independent of every other refrigerator in the building . . . and to regulate the freezing speed for ice cubes or desserts at will by a simple adjustment of the accessible freezing regulator.

DOING AWAY WITH JURIES.

Chairman George W. Wickersham and Roscoe Pound, of the National Law Enforcement Commission, have convinced the subcommittee of the House judiciary committee that their plan for expediting petty prohibition cases in the Federal courts would not be a violation of the Constitution. Accordingly, bills embodying the proposals of the commission have been introduced in the House and referred to the judiciary committee for public hearings. It is well that the important principles involved in this suggested change of judicial procedure are to have a thorough public airing.

The commission was extremely anxious to keep its proposal within constitutional bounds. It is not to be supposed that a group of eminent jurists appointed to devise means of securing better enforcement of the law would recommend a measure which on its face was a violation of the Constitution. All criticism of the suggestion from that angle is premature, for in the final analysis only the Supreme Court is competent to pass on the question. But elimination of the constitutional issue will not dispose of the widespread opposition to the plan.

The specific guarantee in the Constitution relating to trial by jury applies to major crimes. In such minor cases as the commission would like to have disposed of by United States commissioners, Mr. Wickersham says, "there is no right to trial by jury." Nevertheless, the commission has included in its proposal a provision for a jury trial whenever the defendant takes exception to the expedited process. Presumably this is just a good-natured concession, to avoid the appearance of suppressing personal liberty.

The strongest arguments against this new grant of power to Federal commissioners are not based on the ground of constitutionality. The people are not willing to admit that anything which does not violate the Constitution is good for the country. The most serious objection to the scheme is that it would set up a special process to deal with "slight or casual violations of the national prohibition act." If Congress should pass these bills it would be singling out one law for which special procedure is necessary. With such a precedent the way would be opened for special procedure for the enforcement of other laws.

If the Constitution does not demand jury trials for minor offenses, why does not the commission recommend abolition of juries for all offenses but felonies? The proposed laws would retain the theory of trial by jury, but every time a person accused of violating the dry laws went before a jury the members of that supposedly impartial body would know that he had already been found guilty; for under this system the accused could not possibly demand a jury trial until his guilt had been determined by a magistrate. Every demand for a jury would make the accused liable to indictment and conviction upon a more serious charge.

Whether these objections to the commission's plan are rooted in the Constitution or not is immaterial. They are based on the solid foundation of American tradition and the American conception of justice, and will not be easily dislodged.

CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION.

One of the chief difficulties in apprehending criminals in this period of rapid transportation is the lack of coordination among State law enforcement agencies. In most European countries law enforcement is directed from the National Capital and reaches to every corner of the land. The American system of government demands that the States retain their police powers, and it therefore becomes necessary to establish central agencies through which the efforts of all law enforcement officers may be coordinated.

With this purpose in mind the International Association of Chiefs of Police is sponsoring a bill in Congress to create a general clearing house for finger-prints, photographs, measurements and other information which is valuable in the detection of criminals. The Bureau of Investigation in the Department of Justice would be authorized to collect all forms of crime records and statistics for use of Federal, State and municipal officers the country over. The bill has just passed the House by a unanimous vote, and early action in the Senate is promised. Attorney General Mitchell has previously expressed his approval and may be depended upon to make this new clearing house of criminal statistics effective as soon as enactment of the measure is complete.

The mere establishment of a new informational division will not, however, insure the usefulness of this proposed weapon against crime. Cooperation of police officials in towns and cities throughout the country will be necessary. If they take full advantage of this proposed agency many of the difficulties under which State and local officers now work will be eliminated.

GOOD PRISON LEGISLATION.

The four or five serious prison outbreaks that occurred last year inspired a widespread demand for reform. The emphasis that is now being placed on law enforcement, especially with respect to prohibition, makes it probable that the already overcrowded penal institutions will be called upon to receive additional convicts. While commissions here, there and everywhere are studying the problem, the House yesterday passed three bills calculated to provide at least a modicum of relief.

The first bill provides for the construction of two institutions for the confinement of United States prisoners. The second seeks to create, in lieu of all existing boards of parole at Federal penal and correctional institutions, a single three-man board of parole having exclusive authority. The third provides for the diversification of employment of Federal prisoners and for their training and schooling in trades and occupations. The latter measure is by far the most important.

While additional institutions for the confinement of convicts are urgently needed, and while it has come generally to be agreed that wise exercise of the parole power can do much to keep convicts in order and sustain their morale, the underlying cause of prison unrest has seemed to be the idleness in which prisoners have been allowed to spend their days. Provision of work to prevent brooding has long been recognized as the only satisfactory method of dealing with convicts, but so crowded are the country's penal institutions that, of recent years, it has been found generally impossible to keep their populations occupied.

The House measure declares it to be the duty of the Attorney General to provide employment for all physically fit prisoners in such diversified forms as will reduce to a minimum competition with private industry or free labor. It authorizes the Department of Justice to make available to the heads of Government departments the services of prisoners for the purpose of constructing or repairing roads, clearing, maintaining and reforesting public lands, building of levees and for constructing or repairing public ways or works which are or may be financed wholly or in part by Treasury funds. The establishment and maintenance of camps for convicts engaged in such occupation is specifically provided for, in addition to which the Attorney General is directed to establish industries to produce articles and commodities for sale to departments and independent establishments of the Government, but not to the public in competition with private enterprise, and the Federal establishments are directed to purchase such products of prison industries as meet their requirements.

The program embodied in the bill, if carried to its ultimate capacity, should bring about better conditions. It would make possible the profitable employment of convicts. It would enable the Department of Justice to relieve prison crowding by removing considerable numbers of convicts to camps. In addition it would make possible the training of prisoners in useful occupations, and should enable the Government to build roads, levees, &c., and obtain its articles and commodities at considerable savings.

TRANS-JERSEY CANAL.

The movement for the construction of a canal connecting New York and Philadelphia received impetus in hearings this week before the Rivers and Harbors Board of the War Department. The waterway would be constructed across New Jersey from Raritan Bay to the Delaware River, and would afford the final link in the inland waterway that connects New England with Florida. The project has been approved by all Army engineers who have been called upon to examine it. So anxious is the State of New Jersey to have the canal that it offers to purchase the right-of-way with its own funds, making it available to the Government free of all charge.

The New York-Philadelphia inland waterway would be of value to the national defense, but the chief motive for considering its construction at this time is economic. It seems certain that as time goes on a greater proportion of heavy freight will be moved by water. Raritan Bay is linked, through the Hudson River and the Erie Barge Canal, with the Great Lakes system. Construction of the trans-Jersey canal would create a short route for the cheap transportation of commodities produced in the South to New England and the Great Lakes country, and the carrying of products manufactured in the North to Florida and the Gulf.

The project probably will come before Congress in the present session. It is to be hoped that it will be approved. In the meantime it is not too early to consider the feasibility of constructing a canal to link Philadelphia with Baltimore via Delaware and Chesapeake Bays. Such a canal would shorten the through inland water route to the Chesapeake Bay country and the South.

INTERUNION CONCILIATION.

The silver lining to the cloud of threatened economic crisis is the new spirit of cooperation that has been developed under the leadership of President Hoover. The States announce a program of capital improvements involving an expenditure of millions. Public utilities promise to push forward their development and expansion programs. Labor pledges itself not to resort to strikes while the ecenomic welfare of the country hangs in the balance. In every way American business and industry have rallied to keep the country employed, so that the wheels of industry shall keep turning. It is not too much to hope that the new spirit will prevail long after the economic crisis has passed. The benefits obtained therefrom will be so apparent that the leaders of business, industry and labor are bound to exert every effort to perpetuate the new spirit.

Take, for example, the matter of internal strikes in the building industry which have cost tens of millions of dollars to investors and building craftsmen and acted as a general brake on business. New processes and new materials are introduced by architects and engineers, and not infrequently they give rise to disputes as to which union shall be permitted to do the work. In 1919 there was set up a national board of jurisdictional awards, in which were represented labor, employers, architects and engineers, for the purpose of settling disputes of this nature. In 1926 the board collapsed, and since that time the common method of settling disputes between unions has been the strike. The investor, meanwhile, was left helpless, watching his capital dwindle away, while the unions fought the matter out among themselves.

The new spirit of cooperation has led to a revival of the plan for arbitrating jurisdictional disputes. William J. McSorley, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, announced recently that strikes arising from interunion disputes will be banned by an agreement between unions and organized employers. The general scheme agreed upon provides that there shall be no cessation of work pending the adjudication of interunion disputes and the setting up of machinery for agreement through conciliation and, when necessary, arbitration of disputes.

It is inconceivable that, if a workable system for conciliation and arbitration is worked out, it will be thrown overboard as soon as the critical period has passed. The vast sum that interunion strikes cost each year goes into no pocket; it is money thrown away, for which no return whatsoever is obtained. If labor and building trade employers find that they can save money through arbitration and conciliation, the system ought to be perpetuated. It is not beyond the realm of possibility that a new order will be born out of the stress of the economic crisis.

COLONIAL MEMORIAL

From the New York Times.

Introducing a bill for inquiring into the advisability of establishing a national monument in that little corner of Virginia which includes Jamestown, Yorktown and Williamsburg, Representative Cramton, of Michigan, called attention to the particular historic interest that attaches to this spot. His bill purposes to put the Federal Government in a position to cooperate with the Virginia Society for the Preservation of Antiquities, the Rockefeller Foundation and other groups which are already working to preserve this area.

Part of Jamestown is now being cared for by the Virginia society. Williamsburg is being restored under the direction of Mr. Rockefeller's agents. The battlefield of Yorktown is being used as a golf course, though the house in which the peace terms were agreed upon has been saved. But other important and interesting houses and property are still in private hands. By the creation of a colonial national monument it is hoped to acquire and to save for all time these different relics of America's early history.

That the country approves this sort of salvage may be seen not only in the devotion with which it has come to regard Mount Vernon, but in the approval of the purchasing of Monticello and the setting aside of various historic spots in different parts of the country. Here in New York State the movement to preserve the Saratoga battlefield has progressed so rapidly that it is now being urged that this spot also be made into a national monument. Although the reasons which prompt the requests that such sites be preserved under Federal rather than State auspices are partly financial, the sentiment is widespread that places like Saratoga, Yorktown, Jamestown and Williamsburg are, in reality, national rather than local shrines.

It is understood that the national park service approves this project. In view of its known opposition to the establishment of national parks and national monuments in unsuitable places, this is significant. Furthermore, the fact that Representative Cramton is not a Virginian and that he has made a more thorough study of the Nation's parks and potential park sites than any of his colleagues is an indication that the proposal to establish a colonial national monument deserves careful consideration. Its value would lie in supplementing rather than in taking over the work of the organizations at present active in preserving individual places in this region. Furthermore, it would lend the stamp of national recognition.

JUST FOLKS

UNRECOGNIZED.

"I knew him when he was a lad,"
The gossip whispered of the man.
"I knew him when no coat he had.
And when to work he first began.
I knew him in the long ago.
He used to shovel off our snow."

Another said: "I knew him when
He drove a wagon through the street.
And well do I remember, then,
He scarcely had enough to eat.
I knew him running up and down
On errands in our little town."

Fame heard the gossips and replied:
"You knew a boy of long ago,
A shivering lad who worked outside,
And from your pathway shoveled snow.
All that you knew, as you declare,
Was that he had no coat to wear.

"You didn't know the man at all.
You never guessed the fame he'd win.
That ragged coat which you recall
Shut from your view the heart within.
And that poor boy of long ago
Is now the man you didn't know."

Are Thirsty Men Silent While the Well Is Pumped Dry to Water Flowers?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

NO individual owns any part of this earth on which we live.

That is a truth seldom understood, and yet it is recognized in principle by common law.

A man who uses river water to generate power must return it to the river bed at his property line; nobody has a right to pollute the air all must breathe; the people can condemn and appropriate land needed for a public highway.

In principle and in fact the earth belongs to all.

Now suppose a case.

Suppose some scientist should discover a way to generate power from common dirt, so that an acre of soil now worth $100 as a source of food should be worth many thousands of dollars as a source of power.

Every farmer who has 80 acres could become a millionaire, but the farm would become a hole in the ground—stripped of top soil and clay to a depth of 5 to 50 feet.

In time all earth would be consumed; highways would wind between vast excavations filled with stagnant water; and there would be no forests or grain fields or gardens.

Would the people and the Government tolerate any such destruction of earth's resources?

You know they would not.

"Your ownership of the land," they would say to the farmer, "merely confers the right to use it while you live. You can not destroy it. The earth's resources belong to all who live on earth."

No man can have the right to destroy or waste natural resources needed by all the people.

That is so obviously true that a child can understand it.

Yet earth's stores of natural gas and oil are being wasted and nothing is done about it.

Where there is oil there is gas, and the gas is of first importance, for the oil is lost in the sand when the gas is exhausted.

Yet untold millions of feet of gas are wasted in the air every year as rival operators drill and pump and rush their oil to market.

They are like two small boys with two straws and one glass of soda, each afraid to draw breath lest the other get more than his share.

Greedy men, exhausting and wasting earth's resources—everybody's resources—and the Government merely advises and suggests!

The waste must be stopped and stopped quickly, and Congress alone can do it.

Would the foolish people remain silent while a few men destroyed the earth itself to get a profit?

"You'll have to get rid of Alexis. There's no use taking chances!"

"Please don't talk that way. Alexis is perfectly healthy."
"Look at him now! He never sits like that with his head cocked that way."
"He always does when he's tired."
"I was watching him last night—that's when I first began to feel funny—and he's been acting very droopy."
"Do you want him talking all the time?"
"And another thing. He's moulting. You can catch it from feathers."
"I should think you'd be ashamed, a great big man afraid of a little parrot."
"I know when I don't feel right and I've felt rotten all day. I've read all the symptoms and I've got 'em."
"If you've got parrot fever, you got it from some other parrot."
"I don't know any other parrots."
"You may know lots of parrots for all I know. I suppose if we kept an elephant you'd have elephantasis."

* * * *

"I suppose my face isn't green?"
"Of course not. Anyway, Alexis's not green. He's more of a gray and pink."
"Woman, we might as well have this out. You must choose between me and Alexis."
"For shame. How'd you like the neighbors to know that you were so afraid of this pettimorosis, or whatever you call it, that you wanted to kill a defenseless parrot?"
"I'm not asking you to kill it."
"Well, what are you asking?"
"You could give it to somebody."
"Oh, you make me tired. Frightened over a poor innocent little parrot. Suppose we kept a flamingo?"

AMERICAN ANTIQUES.

Whatever may have happened to prices on the Stock Exchange, at least one market seems strong enough to withstand all possible bear raids. That is the market for antiques, according to the New York Post. The recent auction of Americana at the American Art Association-Anderson Galleries brought a grand total of almost half a million dollars, a Hepplewhite secretary commanding the top price of $30,000.

Many of the articles auctioned possessed a historic interest, entirely apart from their intrinsic value, as examples of early American art. A badge of membership in the Order of the Cincinnati in the name of Jabez Bowen fetched $2,300; a chair used by John Hancock when he was inaugurated Governor of Massachusetts brought $5,600; a silver porringer which once belonged to the granddaughter of John and Priscilla Alden was bid up to $1,600, and the anvil Paul Revere deserted when he interrupted his work as a silversmith to arouse the country side on the eve of the Battle of Lexington sold for $9,700.

These prices are a clear indication that the steady growth of America's interest in its own past is still on the upward curve. It is too broad a movement to be dismissed as a fad and it represents too deep a feeling for the historical and cultural influences of Colonial and Revolutionary days to be discouraged by stock market losses. And if New York auctions are still so popular, we may be sure that next spring the countryside will have its usual assortment of less imposing but none the less intriguing antiques to tempt the passing motorist.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Jones Bill Would Open District to Outside Experts Who Wish to Experiment in Making This a Model City.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The bill of Senator Jones amending the appointment qualifications of our two civil commissioners again fixes attention on the continual effort to open holes through which experts from the outside can break with a view to assisting us in engineering the government of the Federal District.

The average citizen is well satisfied with the present requirement that the commissioners must be bona fide residents of the District for three years next preceding appointment. The Jones bill provides that "maintaining a voting residence elsewhere shall not prevent such appointment," and to the requirement of "actual" residence in the District it adds, "or have actually maintained therein an office or place of business for three years next before their appointments." What an "office" or a "place of business" may mean for the purposes of the bill is not "actually" clear in my mind, but doubtless the installation of a desk, a typewriter, and a blonde stenog would sufficiently meet the requirement.

I used to get excited in a glow of local pride when attempts of outsiders to break through occurred. But in the second sober thought of advancing years I begin to have a doubt. It may be that those who would make local office-holding free to the Nation's office-seekers really crave the welfare of the Nation's city. In their claim that the best candidate should be chosen, even if he come from outside, there may be more common sense than I have been wont to admit. At least they have the precedent of our ball club to back them up. From whence does the Old Fox recruit his line-up? From the outside. With outside talent he has won two pennants and a world series. With outside talent he keeps them guessing from spring to spring, and with outside talent we are hoping that he will make good this year. Who am I to say that a strictly local nine could do better than the Griffs? And by the same token, who can say that expert school officials and psychoanalysts and utilities accountants and retirement-annuity actuaries from the outside may not outrank our local talent just as a native Washingtonian nine would be outranked by the Griffmen?

When you come to think about it, only yesterday Washington was an overgrown village. Overnight it has developed into a bully, although still several years short of maturity. Wait till it has become the big town of two million souls they are now talking about, and it then may be able to furnish an expert for every job.

FEDERALIST.

Consciences May Honestly Differ on the Wisdom of Constitution Tinkering.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A Post correspondent, writing of the eighteenth amendment, asserts that "under no circumstances can there be offered any conscientious reasons why it should be repealed."

But does not this depend on what kind of a conscience is here indicated?

The Constitution was framed to hold the States together politically; to hold them together as a people's government in their relationship to the world at large. It was not framed to hold them together in moral uniformity. The framers were too wise and tolerant to lay down rules of conduct for a people in whose moral stamina they had faith.

Critics of the Constitution are agreed that its strength is in its simplicity. Amendments that are not germane to the supreme purpose from which it grew are objectionable, no matter how praiseworthy in themselves, because, with the adoption of every such amendment, there will be a sacrifice of simplicity with a distinct loss of strength. In this class all amendments for the regulation of moral conduct are especially obnoxious.

Constitutional excrescences I would call them; and my reason for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment is that like a malignant tumor, a constant source of civil discord, it interferes dangerously with the healthy functioning of the body politic.

This reason, whether good or bad, is conscientious, not that I hate strong drink less but that I love domestic tranquillity and the integrity of the Constitution more.

SHIP BOARD LINES URGED FOR MAILS

Three Government Agencies Ask Contract Awards to Buyers of U.S. Ships.

ALL SUPPORT WHITE BILL

(Associated Press.)

The support by three governmental agencies of a policy to give preference to purchasers of Shipping Board lines in the award of ocean mail contracts was recorded yesterday with the House merchant marine committee.

Postmaster General Brown and Chairman O'Connor, of the Shipping Board, held that the Government should, when possible, award the mail contracts to operators who have built up the line involved after purchasing its ships from the Government.

Secretary Lamont, of the Commerce Department, said this preference should be recognized, but that it should be limited by the circumstances surrounding each individual case. He was opposed, he explained, to the "holding up" of the Government just to satisfy the preference theory.

All three witnesses, appearing in behalf of the White bill to clarify the intent of Congress in existing legislation governing the award of mail contracts, were strongly in favor of the development of a merchant marine upon a sound basis.

O'Connor declared that if a real merchant marine was to be developed, "the Government has got to stand by it to the limit." He advocated legislation to enable the Government to grant preference to purchasers of Shipping Board lines in the award of the mail contracts.

SENATORS HIT HOOVER'S PLAN

missions. They make no secret of the fact that they look upon the whole proposition with disfavor.

They have committees set up, they point out, to deal with most every conceivable subject and the members of these committees resent the taking of any matter away from them.

There is another reason underlying the leaders' attitude and that is, they are afraid joint committees may sooner or later make for friction between the two bodies, or perhaps, the procedure might work to the point of where the Senate dominated the committees.

So strongly have the House leaders come to feel on the increasing number of commissions, indeed, that they not only intend to scrutinize closely those that involve House members but also those set up outside of Congress but for which it is asked to appropriate. If the theory of a commission is that its findings will be adopted without question by the House, it is contended, then that body's prerogatives are being usurped while if a House committee is to supplement the investigation or go over the entire ground as it invariably does, then it is contended that there is no need for the unofficial inquiry at all.

Mr. Hoover has said and his actions have shown that commissions are his forte. As Secretary of Commerce he set up countless ones and he seems to be following out this policy in undiminished degree as President.

In a letter that he wrote to an Ohio well wisher several days ago he gave his attitude toward commissions. It was in the nature of an answer to the fun which editors and public men generally have made of this policy.

For one thing, the President said, commissions get at the truth and the Government must have truth before it can act. But another consideration, he said, is that they interest men in governmental affairs. The men who serve on these commissions come to feel that they are an intimate part of the Government which Mr. Hoover considers to be a healthy state of affairs.

There are political minds on Capitol Hill, however, who argue that not only do these men come to feel that they are part of the Government, but that they are part of the Hoover Government. In other words, these commissions add to his already tremendous personal organization. And the politicians are afraid of it. Putting a man on a commission, they say, has long been recognized as the most subtle form of political attack. He comes to think that he is on the "inside," and it is a political fact, that no member of a commission has ever bitten the hand that fed it.

Man's two greatest weaknesses, these political minds say, are commissions and gaudy uniforms.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

TO judge by the conversation of some of those congressional drys off the floor, there must be a lot of unhappiness in the dry ranks. It is as if they suffered all the time from suppressed desires, a yearning to rise up and kick some one in the political slats, to raise cain, to cut up and have as much fun as do the wets.

Indeed, it is as if the fellows suffer from an inferiority complex. And it is true that ordinarily they are the quietest of men. Even their leaders feel seldom called upon to make a speech, and then the dry in the ranks show no more emotion than a brief handclap in order that the House stenographers may write in the word "applause."

Docility would seem to be an apt racial characterization of them.

* * * *

BUT the transformation that comes off the floor, one might say after the second one, is a sight for the mind's eye, a lesson in chemistry, and quite often a pain in the neck.

Regardless of statute they become cocky, biggety, boastful and other things which make for disorder in what would otherwise be a quiet session.

"And I said to Nick," quoth one, "I will either go on this committee or I will go on none. And I have said to McBride and Cannon any number of times! There's got to be another solution of this thing. I don't mind working along with you for awhile, but it won't be long.' Yes, I told them that. Political consequences or none, I'm not the man to be cowed. You can lay to that." And so on.

* * * *

THERE is one fellow in mind who must be a great help to the President. At least, his favorite story is how to get the President out of this hole and that one. He had to talk pretty straight to him to do it, but then this fellow is a man's man without fear of death.

Now there is an inward unrest to fellows who talk this way when there are no consequences. If psychoanalysis means anything it is that ordinarily they live beyond their natural selves.

Beneath their moral surfaces there beats a lust to break the chains that ties the tongue in their mouth when they attempt to say anything without their cups. It is an unnatural life and one that does not make for good health, the psychoanalysists say.

* * * *

OF course, men living under such handicaps as they, those who live under such a strain, should be permitted a means of ridding themselves of their pent-up spleen. Undoubtedly they would run amuck, perhaps, go as crazy as a june-bug, if they were not.

But why can't a spleen box or some other spleen device be set up for them. There is no reason why the wets in orderly session should have to abide with them. They are, to speak plainly, a nuisance.

Why, when they get to bragging they suggest the wife who boasts in a crowd what an angel her husband is, when every one but she knows that he is the biggest devil in town.

the high prices of Florida land, and left the brotherhood "holding the sack." By this time, it is explained by Mr. Pollmar, the brotherhood had poured so many thousands of dollars into the proposed city that they could not afford to let it go.

The complaint states that Huston then became associated with Venice, and that he contracted with the plaintiff to pay the money owed by the brotherhood.

Claudius H. Huston last night issued the following statement:

"There is absolutely no ground for bringing my name into the suit filed by E. H. Price Co. against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and others. It relates to the purchase of Florida land by the Brotherhood, made long prior to any connection I had with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which began in the summer of 1927.

"I undertook, as a public service, to assist that organization in disentangling its financial affairs and for that purpose became an officer of the Brotherhood Management Corporation, and I never acted in an individual capacity.

"The particular transactions were between the E. H. Price Co. and some of the brotherhood corporations and I was never given authority at any time by the brotherhood, prior to the termination of my connection with it, to even treat with them looking to a settlement.

"The matter is in the hands of my counsel, E. F. Colladay, of Washington, and his New York associates, Morris, Plante & Gaze, who advise me that the suit against me can not be justified in any manner."

Interrupting, Senator Bratton maintained this was caused by "concerted action among the manufacturers of shoes to fix the price."

Replying, Senator Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, said a large part of the difference in price was due to profits of the middlemen. Senators Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, and Smoot, said shoe manufacturers were more free of combinations than any other industry in the United States.

Senator Smoot said a vote might be reached today on the hide issue.

$3,000,000 Porto Rican Fund Bill Is Approved

President Hoover yesterday signed a congressional joint resolution appropriating $3,000,000 to be used in reconstruction work in Porto Rico.

Of the amount, $1,000,000 will be used for rehabilitation work and $2,000,000 for reparing roads and school building in the islands. The resolution brings the total appropriated for such work in Porto Rico to $6,000,000, a total of $6,000,000 having been appropriated by the last Congress.

LOBBY EXPENDITURE DEFENDED ON STAND

Money Used in Presidential Campaign Designated as "Educational."

LEAGUE OFFICER IS HIT

(Associated Press.)

Expenditure of $43,313 by the American Tariff League in the 1928 presidential campaign in advocating a protective tariff was defended as for educational rather than political purposes before the Senate lobby committee yesterday by W. W. Barbour, treasurer and former president of the league.

The Senate investigators have challenged Mr. Barbour's failure to report this expenditure to Congress as a violation of the corrupt practices act.

Probing into the activities of the league the Senate committee learned some new appellations for the Western Republican independent group which has bolted the Republican tariff bill before the Senate. The terms "conspirators" and "renegades" were used in an editorial of the Tariff Review, published by the league, in referring to the Western independent bloc. Mr. Barbour said he knew nothing concerning the editorial.

Senator Walsh (Democrat), of Montana, observed after some questioning of Mr. Barbour that the witness had "a remarkable failure of memory."

The Montanan asked Mr. Barbour about his statement that he did not know what lobbying was, after which he produced a document sent out by American Tariff League officials which said that, under the provisions of the Caraway bill proposing to require registration of lobbyists, the league would be classed as a lobbying organization.

"I have no knowledge of the letter," Mr. Barbour replied.

Mr. Barbour testified that the average budget of the association was about $75,000 a year and disclaimed knowledge of a letter purporting to have been written by him November, 1928, which said "the present income" was almost $100,000 a year, and that it was estimated "we ought to have an income of close to $300,000 a year for the next three to five years."

The witness said the letter, which was addressed to R. H. Aishton, chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives, might have been written by Arthur L. Faubel, league secretary, who will be questioned today.

Sackett Sails to Begin Duties as Ambassador

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—F. M. Sackett, former senator from Kentucky, sailed today on the liner President Harding to take up his new duties as United States Ambassador to Germany.

He will go by the way of Plymouth and London, England, and will arrive in Berlin about February 5. He was accompanied by Mrs. Sackett.

LORDS TAKE TEETH OUT OF LABOR BILL

House Majority Continues to Increase Troubles of Party in Power.

NEW PEER TAKES SEAT

London, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The difficulty under which the Labor government is working, because of the hopeless minority in the House of Lords, came to the fore today as the upper chamber continued revising the government's unemployment insurance bill in committee stage. Last night two defeats were administered to the government in the House of Lords and the peers continued busily taking the teeth out of the bill, which is designed to extend the dole.

What will be the attitude of the government when it finally gets the bill out of the hands of the lords and back into the House of Commons, is impossible to say just now.

Another evidence of the difficult position of the government was seen in publication of the government amendments to the coal mines bill, which are intended to meet Liberal objections. Before the Christmas holidays, the Liberals joined the Conservatives in condemning this very important measure, and, as a result, the Labor government just scraped through with a majority of eight on the main division.

Lord Ponsonby, parliamentary minister of transport and one of the new labor recruits to the House of Lords, took his seat in the upper house today. He was created a peer in the New Year's honors list and was appointed under secretary for dominion affairs when the government first took office.

Lord Marley, former Maj. Leign Aman, who was a labor parliamentary whip, also took his seat.

With these two accessions the Labor party in the House of Lords numbers sixteen, including the lord chancellor.

Buy Your Printing at Home

The short-sighted policy of merchants who send their printing work to cities other than the one in which they conduct business is beyond human conjecture. This error in business judgment is doubly emphasized when the practice is indulged in by quasi-public enterprises, universities or similar institutions. There can be no excuse in the latter case, as the money expended for work of this character is drawn from public funds or contributions from members of the community. A plea might be made that a saving in cost enters the matter, but that saving, if any, would be so slight that the plea is in itself evidence of the error.

Reverse the situation. If workers in a community found it expedient to purchase supplies, clothing and other necessities in adjacent centers, what would be the effect on the local business community? Yet this course would seem just as logical as the one complained of. Spending money earned at home is one of the main factors in the industrial prosperity of a community and all its residents.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

Miss Gregory Wins Success In Sculpture

New Orleans Native Is Acclaimed for Work in That City.

By JEAN ELIOT.

FRESH from a year or two of study abroad, Miss Angela Gregory, a young American sculptor, held an exhibition. Just as it was drawing to a close, Gen. Allison Owen, architect for most of the public buildings in New Orleans, Miss Gregory's home, dropped in and, after looking over her work, casually asked her if she would accept the appointment as sculptor for the new Criminal Courts Building in New Orleans, a task including execution of models for all limestone, bronze and interior plaster work on the great building.

She would and she did. And now, with the work accomplished—including six bronze panels outlining the history of Louisiana, great stone figures of Liberty and Justice and stone panels depicting the Louisiana pelican and the Amerigan eagle, each flanked by the Lion of Leon and the Gallic cock—Miss Gregory is coming to Washington for a visit. She will arrive today and will be the guest of Mlle. Fanny Bunaud-Sevastos at 900 Nineteenth street, until Monday, after which she will be at the headquarters of the American Association of University Women.

Mlle. Bunaud-Sevastos, who is in Washington while working with the Inter-American Commission of Women, is a niece of Mme. Bourdelle, widow of the famous French sculptor, Antoinne Bourdelle, with whom Miss Gregory studied in Paris. Miss Gregory is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. William B. Gregory. Her father is professor of engineering at Tulane University and is a member of the Mississippi River Commission to which he was appointed by Mr. Dwight F. Davis when he was Secretary of War.

Miss Gregory, who is even now but 25, went to Paris to study on a scholarship from the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts and then spent three months in Italy working in museums and doing outdoor sketching. Later she entered the Academie de la Grande Chaumiere in Paris, with bi-monthly criticisms from M. Bourdelle. He became so interested in her work that he paid her the great compliment of taking her into his own atelier, where she worked for two years. On his invitation, she had two exhibits in the Salon des Tuilleries in 1928, one a plaster portrait of Miss Adelaide McLaughlin, of Boston, then a resident of Paris, whose profile, M. Bourdelle had declared, was the most perfect he had ever seen.

While Miss Gregory is preeminently a sculptor and has exhibited many fine portrait heads both in this country and abroad, as well as engaging bronzes of animals, she has done many fine oils and a delightful group of aquarelles, including scenes in Normandy, Milan, Naples and Florence. "La Belle Augustine," done from a small servant in her mother's house in the perfect Topsy manner, has attracted much favorable attention wherever she has exhibited.

From Washington Miss Gregory will go to New York for the four-day celebration marking the opening of the Barbizon Plaza early in March. This is an undertaking to raise money for the preservation of Millet's studio at Barbizon and Miss Gregory is a member of the New Orleans committee, which is cooperating with the New York group. En route North she has been visiting in Halifax, Va., and Richmond. There will be a number of parties given for Miss Gregory while she is in Washington.

Senator Joseph R. Grundy will head the receiving line at the reception this evening to be given by the Pennsylvania State Society in the gold room of the Wardman Park Hotel. Also receiving will be Mr. Emerson Collins, public service commissioner of Pennsylvania, and prominent members of the society. Dancing will follow the reception.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

LENGTHENED lines especially flattering to the shorter woman, is illustrated in printed silk crepe in dark green tones, the newest whim of Paris.

The jabot rever that takes a diagonal course gives much grace and height to the figure. It makes the stout woman appear charmingly slender and accentuates slimness for the youthful type.

The hips are snugly fitted with band that is perforated to be made in three sections for the use of contrasting colors or fabric. In this instance, the designer used plain green crepe in harmonizing tone that makes the jabot rever and cuffs with tab ends.

It's extremely wearable and especially lovely for luncheon and matinee.

Style No. 8236 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. In the medium size, it takes but 3½ yards of 39-inch material with ¾-yard of 39-inch contrasting.

It also adapts itself beautifully to the new woolens of feather weight, and is especially smart in gypsy red coloring.

Navy blue wool crepe, bottle green canton crepe, black silk crepe with jabot rever lined with eggshell, tomato red silk crepe, dahlia purple crepe marocain and brown crepe satin using the two surfaces are irresistibly lovely.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

Tired Days — Restless Nights

Result from Kidney Irregularities.

DO kidney irregularities break your rest and make your daytimes miserable? Are you always tired and drowsy—suffer nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells?

These are often signs of disordered kidneys and shouldn't be neglected.

Heed the early warnings. Don't let kidney trouble get a firm hold.

To promote normal kidney action and assist your kidneys in cleansing your blood of poisonous wastes, use Doan's Pills. Users everywhere endorse Doan's.

T. J. Concannon, 804 Thurman St., Portland, Ore., says: "Backaches bothered me and I was so lame and sore I could hardly move around. I was tired and draggy. Headaches and dizzy spells were frequent. FEW ARE FAT IN THESE DAYS

THERE'S A REASON

Have you noted how few people are now over-fat, as compared with years ago? Slender figures are the vogue. And they have brought to millions new youth and beauty, new health and vigor.

Look about you in any crowd, and you will realize that some new factor has been found. People are not starving to reduce. They are combating the cause of obesity, which usually lies in an under-active gland. Modern science has discovered the remedy, and physicians the world over now employ it.

A famous medical laboratory embodies the method in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. So countless people now reduce in this right and easy way.

The Marmola prescription is not secret. A book in each box states the formula, and explains the results. Your own doctor would probably prescribe the same help if you asked him.

No abnormal exercise or diet. Simply take four tablets of Marmola daily until your loss of fat proves that the cause is corrected.

Try Marmola, if you need it. Do this in fairness to yourself, your family and friends. Correct this wrong condition and note the amazing results. Life will bring you many new joys when you cease to overweigh. Start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

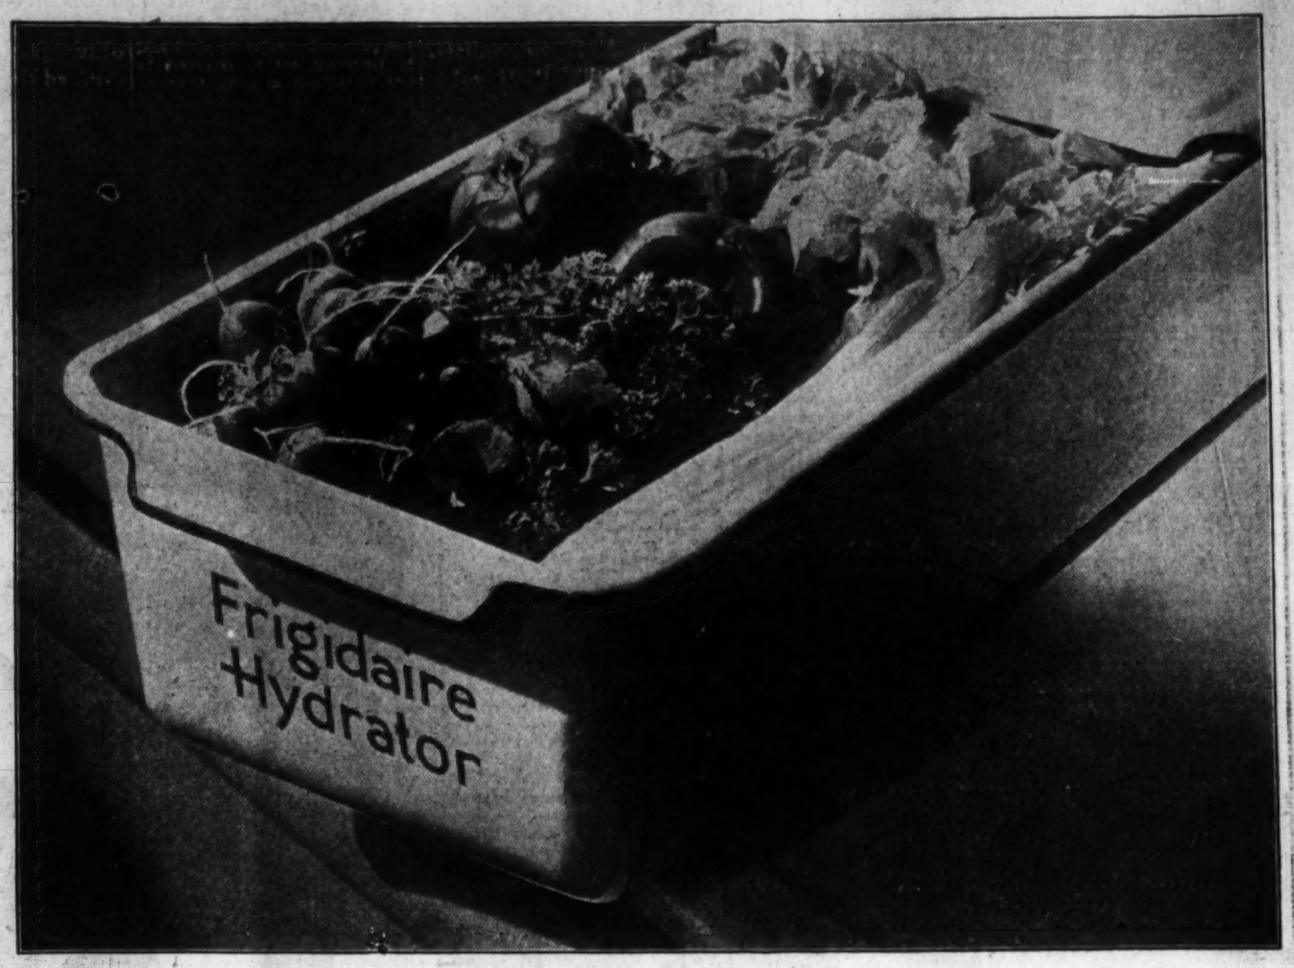
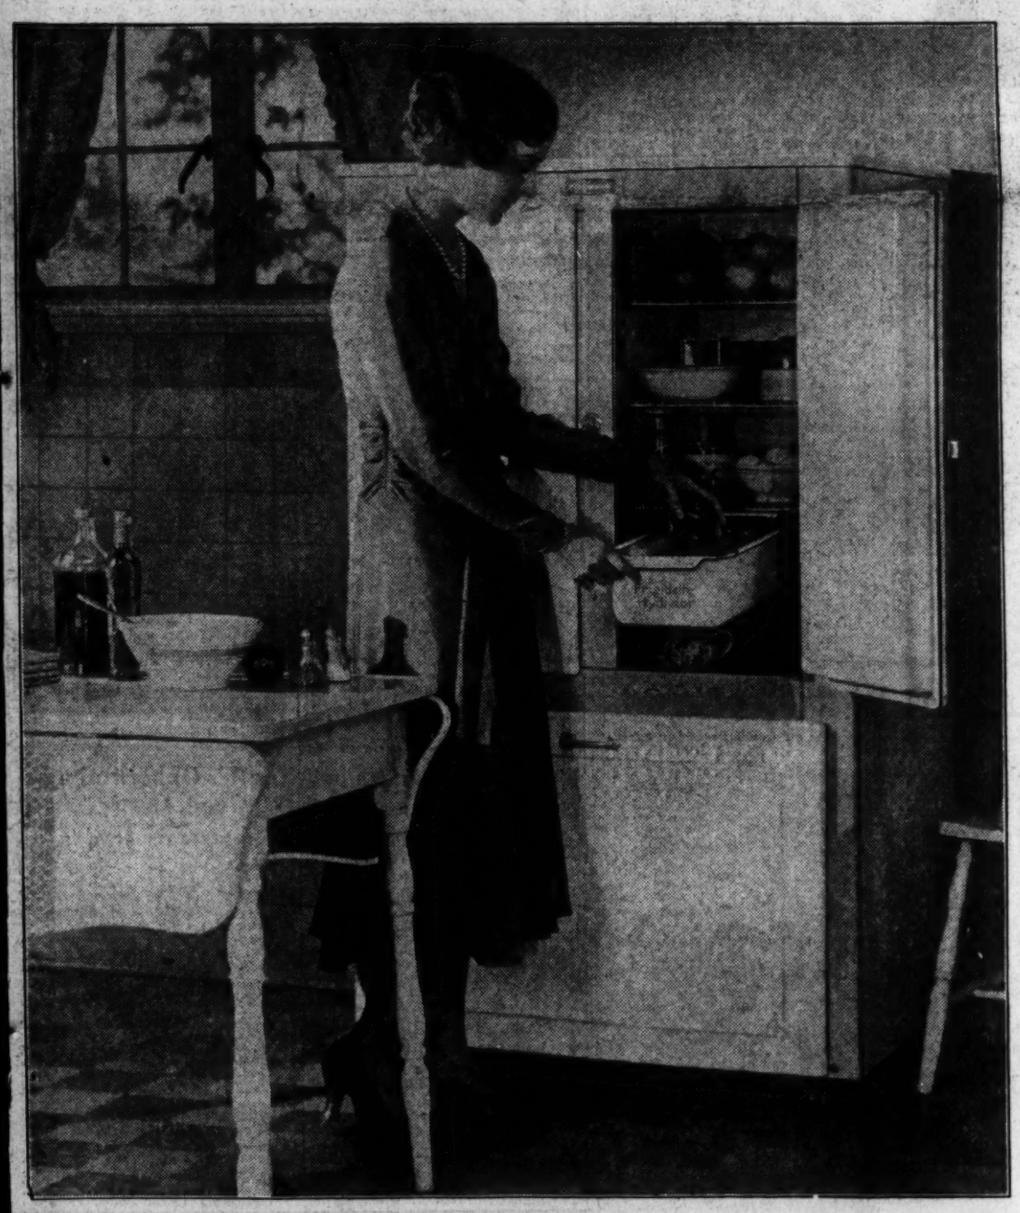
Now Frigidaire gives you the HYDRATOR





The Hydrator is a marvelous new moist air compartment that makes vegetables and salad materials delightfully fresh and tender. See it demonstrated today.

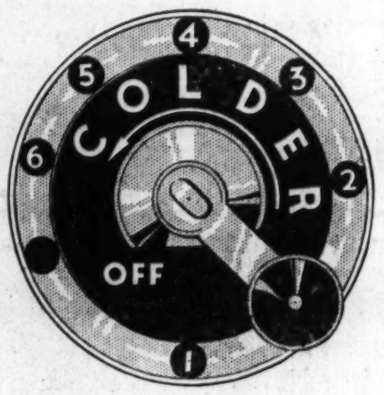
NOW, with the development of the Hydrator, Frigidaire offers a new service to users . . . a special compartment for vegetables and foods that need added moisture.

You can put wilted celery in the Hydrator and make it crisp and fresh again. You can make lettuce tender and brittle. You can quickly restore the firmness of radishes, tomatoes and other vegetables. You can keep all your green vegetables fresh and full-flavored until you're ready to use them—all in one compact compartment.

And Frigidaire offers other added features

Today every household Frigidaire is equipped with the Hydrator. It is part of the surplus value offered by Frigidaire. So, too, is the famous "Cold Control" which enables you to speed the freezing of ice cubes and desserts.

And in addition to these two outstanding features—the Hydrator and the "Cold Control"—Frigidaire has the extra power that insures dependable refrigeration regardless of outside temperatures. All mechanical parts are concealed—and quiet. Patented self-sealing ice trays permit the freezing chamber to be kept intensely cold. And to make Frigidaire still more practical and more strikingly beautiful, every household cabinet is now rust-proof Porcelain-on-steel inside and out.



The famous "Frigidaire Cold Control"

Don't miss our special demonstration

But let us tell you more about these features. And by all means let us demonstrate the new Frigidaire Hydrator. Call at our display room at your first opportunity.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT H. HEINI

THIS is the international era of radio and America is playing a conspicuous part in it. In a suburb of Rome, one of the most powerful stations in the world from which the strong voice of Mussolini is expected to be frequently heard, began broadcasting last night with all-American equipment.

It was inaugurated with a gala performance from the famous La Scala opera house in Milan wired with American microphones. The program, which was relayed to Rome, was personally directed by Pietro Mascagni, composer of the opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana."

The Rome station, built by the Radio Corporation of America, broadcasts on 50,000 watts, the same as WEAF in New York, but is capable of reaching a peak of 200,000 watts, or four times the power used by any station in the United States or perhaps the world.

AN investigation by this column brings forth the explanation that King George went on the air without an introduction because of a strict order issued by the British Broadcasting Co. that nobody was to speak before the king. In doing this they had not counted on Senator Dill, of Washington, who crawled out of the hay at 5 a. m. to orate a little on his own hook while folks were waiting for the big show to begin.

From the other end of the line, however, there was a long delay due to the fact that the B. B. C. microphones were unattended. Atmospherics came through sounding for all the world like the ocean surf, and later voices of spectators in the House of Lords could be heard. According to one theory, the ocean and subsequent explosive effects were caused by the breaking of the dawn as it traveled westward over the Atlantic.

When King George began speaking, American listeners, recalling his recent illness, could hardly believe the strong voice they heard could be his, but thought possibly it was Ramsay MacDonald's and that they had missed the king. However, this impresson was corrected when the prime minister came on with the Scotch burr so familiar to Washington ears.

SIR ESME HOWARD'S very human farewell, carried to the Nation over the Columbia system, will be remembered as one impeccable in substance and, like the King's speech, a model of brevity.

The music for the occasion was delightful. It was selected by the British Ambassador himself, some of it religious classic he had heard sung in Westminster Abbey.

What have the fans to say with regard to the Cheerio evening performance at 6:30 o'clock? And how many have guessed the names of the artists associated with him?

FAKE fortune tellers have made as high as $100,000 in six months broadcasting over radio stations, according to Variety, which explains the game as follows:

"As Prince This, Doctor That or Prof. So-and-So, the gimmickers travel all over the country. The racket is to call for questions over the radio that the professor will answer at a later date. So many come in he can only answer a small percentage of them. Answers are vague and useless to the listener-in.

"At one station in Los Angeles 100,000 requests were received in eleven weeks. Then secretaries got to work mailing the come-ons, offering four answers for a dollar.

"Thirty per cent of those solicited came across with $1 to $4."

Heard during "American Home Banquet" hour:

Customer—Do you serve fish here"

Waiter—We serve anybody who comes in?"

Copeland Will Address Trade Group Tonight

The twenty-third anniversary banquet of the Washington Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight at the Mayflower Hotel. Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, will be the principal speaker.

A program of entertainment has been arranged by a committee headed by Charles H. Frame.

Jean Interprets the Mode

Black faille and satin evening frock with ensemble coat of velvet, both gold-trimmed. (Courtesy of Jean Magnin, Paris.)

Paris, January 22.

THREE cheers for the Ardanse mannequins! And the Redfern mannequins . . . and some others. But some others!

But anyway, walk into the Maison Ardanse—you know, where Yvonne Davidson now is?—and sit upon one of the small white and gold chairs—and see lovely lady after lovely lady come through the closed black velvet drapes—wearing the long, slender, form-fitting lints that this house seems to achieve so graciously with so little obvious effort. And realize that here you actually have on view the famous Parisienne mannequin at her loveliest and best—an elegante, beautifully groomed and coiffured, quiet in her gestures and stately in her walk.

And this house favors the fairly long skirt for afternoon wear, as well as for evening. To tell you the truth, it is the choice of all the more elegant houses, even though many very smart and popular houses do not favor it especially, such as Jenny and Mag-Helly.

And I dare any moaning male to say one further word about disliking long skirts, after seeing long skirts as they can and should be worn!

Cape or bertha collar, nobody-seems-to-who-cares. Anyway it looks mighty like an overgrown bertha collar, going as it does all the way around the neck and falling to just below the elbows. But then, hocus-pocus or geeley-geeley, as they like to say in Paris, you untie it and it comes off and just isn't a collar any more!

But then sometimes it doesn't untie and come off—and then everybody looks surprised and thinks it ought to. Personally, I don't care whether it does or not! It's smart on certain types of dresses and cute on people who can afford to be cute.

And then a Jean Magnin evening ensemble, which proves again that one can be chic without being extreme! This dress is a combination of black satin and faille, embroidered in black pearls, and the coat of black velvet has white incrustations, which are covered with gold embroidery. Fine imagination, quite good taste, and there you have it!

"Parking With Peggy"

"One has to use good ammunition when hunting for a job."

The Couturier.

Jean Magnin is pronounced "Manyan," no especial accent on either syllable—these have all been easy ones lately, so easy you don't have to say them ten times, but just wait!

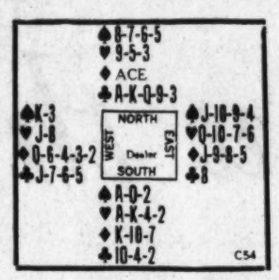
WORK'S BRIDGE

BRIDGERS.

Important Notice!

Beginning Monday, January 27, Mr. Milton C. Work, the international authority, will conduct in this department for two weeks a great Home Bridge Contest. You will find it of intense interest and wonderfully instructive. It will enable you to test and increase your knowledge of Auction and Contract and contest informally with members of your household and friends. Remember the date—January 27. Challenge your friends.



WITH the above hand the bidding at Auction Bridge would be: South, one No Trump, followed by three passes. At Contract Bridge, South would bid one No Trump, West pass, North three No Trumps, followed by three passes.

When the hand was played, West led the Trey of Diamonds, dummy's singleton Ace won, and dummy then led the Ace and King of Clubs. When East refused the second Club, dummy led a Heart, South won and led the Ten—his remaining Club; West did not cover, so the Ten won. South then led three rounds of Hearts, hoping to establish a thirteener; but West had only two, so East won two Hearts, on which West discarded a Club and a Diamond. East led the Jack of Spades; the Queen finesse lost, and the Declarer's total winning was one Spade, two Hearts, two Diamonds and three Clubs—one less than game.

Should Declarer have done better?

The Correct Play.

Declarer, after winning the first trick, could count as assured winners one Spade, two Hearts, two Diamonds and three Clubs; he needed one more trick for game. If the adverse five Clubs were divided 3-2, as was most probable, two more tricks could be made in that suit; and if the adverse King of Spades were held by East, one more trick could be made in Spades; so it might be possible for Declarer to win eleven tricks. Game, however, should be his objective, and he should realize that dummy's only entry outside of Clubs had been removed. He could ensure his game by leading the Ace of Clubs to trick 2 and a small Club to trick 3, which would be the sound play, as East might have four Clubs; but even as Declarer played it, chancing the probable 3-2 division of the adverse Clubs, all he had to do was to play the Ten of Clubs on the second round of that suit when East refused. In that way he could have captured West's Jack and made five Club tricks.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

THIS column has harped away so persistently upon the topic of wide-angle photography and projection and the slowness of its approach that it seems pertinent to quote a portion of "Red" Kann's editorial comment in the January 18 issue of the Motion Picture News. Mr. Kann speaking:

"Wide film is creeping up on the industry. It is inevitable that it should. Producers have held a number of serious discussions looking toward a sensible handling of the problem. They appreciate the fact that the near-cataclysm created by sound must be avoided.

"Demonstrations in producer-owned theaters may be expected shortly. Coupled with this, the word is passed around that there will be, can be, no stampede. No? Suppose the first production on wide film wows 'em. Then what?

"A page torn from history recalls to mind that one picture, 'The Jazz Singer,' furnished the spark that set off the sound explosion."

If there is going to be a third-dimension spark, I, for one, with somebody, would hurry up and strike it, explosion or no explosion!

The foregoing was written last Monday for publication in Tuesday's column, from which it was crowded out by lack of space, and just goes to show how wrong you have been if you have never believed in telepathic influence. For here is the authentic word that has only now reached this desk barely in time for Thursday.

Orders have been issued by the Fox high command that their theaters in Washington, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, Brooklyn and Atlanta be immediately equipped for the presentation of Grandeur Film, the trade name applied to the Fox product made by wide-angle photography on 70mm stock for wide-angle projection on the oversize screen.

That they mean business in Washington would seem to be indicated by the fact that "Happy Days," the musical production originally called "The New Orleans Frolic," in which every star on the Fox pay roll has been utilized, has been taken out of its penciled booking for March 1 to await the completion of the new installation at the local Fox house.

While we are on the subject of Fox, there has been a far-reaching shakeup in the personnel of the Fox Movietone News and the Hearst Metrotone News. The Courtland Smith regime seems to be at an end and his many friends in Washington are wondering if, as a Smith henchman, Jack Connolly, European representative of the Fox Movietone News, may be included among the many told to step out and sniff the ozone. We all hope not.

Reverting to the pandemonium being precipitated four times a day by Wesley Eddy, it will probably impress the fan public of the Capital as a part of nature's thoughtful compensation that there will be no master of ceremonies at all at the Palace next week. The Loew unit coming in on Saturday is, so I am told, wordless. Yes, all in pantomime.

After that, however, comes Lou Holtz, a comedian who, from time to time, has adorned the George White "Scandals" and others of the stage's major gaucheries, with his clowning, in a stage revue which Mr. Rubin thinks is called "Laceland," although he wouldn't be sure about it.

Next week's bookings are as follows: Fox, Warner Baxter and Mary Duncan in "A Romance of the Rio Grande;" Metropolitan, Mary Eaton in "Glorifying the American Girl;" Palace, Harry Green and Mary Brian in "The Kibitzer;" Earle, Alice White in "Playing Around;" Rialto, Lon Chaney, Mary Philbin and Norman Kerry in "The Phantom of the Opera;" RKO-Keith's, Jack Oakie and Polly Walker in "Hit the Deck;" Columbia, Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald in "The Love Parade." The Rialto week begins Friday, the Earle's Friday midnight and the RKO-Keith and Columbia bills both are holdovers.

It would be nice if some one would invent a wide-angle day—there goes the whistle already and hardly a wheel has turned!

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"AQUARIUS."

IF January 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:45 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 6:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:40 a. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

A business journey of importance, followed by success, is presaged for this date. Evtnts of state or national importance will take place, which will be of widespread benefit. Check extravagant expenditures!

The child born on this January 23 will be very fond of sport and pleasure and a rather indifferent student. They will have plenty of ability, but will be mentally lazy. They will suffer through instability.

Your ways of living and thinking demonstrate that you are very practical minded. It is difficult for you to do things which do not savor of common sense. You have very little time for nonsense, even if it is of a harmless nature. You prefer to play a safe and conservative game of life rather than to risk a small loss for a big prize, if you should become the winner. You have very little imagination, and you stick to facts and believe what you see.

You have a determined will, and if you conceive that you are in the right will fight to maintain your rights to the very end. While this is a good characteristic, you must be careful to distinguish between obstinacy and determination. You are very outspoken and blunt, and you might cultivate a little more tact, which is lacking in your nature. You will be able to do constructive and mechanical work—your hands are very capable and responsive to your mental orders. You are not fitted for leadership, but you are an intelligent follower. You are an uncomplaining worker, and you will never choose a life of inactivity. By nature you are very jealous, and this trait, more than anything else, will cause you unhappiness.

Philadelphia, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Vice President Charles Curtis, addressing the graduating class of the Pierce School of Business Administration tonight, declared that the opportunities for the youth of today are as good if not better than ever before.

Field Against Cubs in 1930 Flag Race

Wrigley Moves to Bolster Champions by Adding Talent.

Giants, Pirates and Cards Also to Present Better Clubs.

(This is the eighteenth and last of a series of stories dealing with 1930 major league prospects.)

By BRIAN BELL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—If the baseball stars have been read aright from National League observatories, the 1930 race will again be the field against the Chicago Cubs, good enough to win handily last year but not so impressive in the world series.

Not content to rest on their laurels, the firm of Wrigley, Veech and McCarthy occupied itself during the winter in adding talent and the champions may be even more formidable in the coming campaign. Lester Bell, who seems to bloom under the inspiration of Rogers Hornsby, will be assigned third base from the outset and a bumper crop of pitchers is to be inspected. The only fly in the Cub ointment is that there is no assurance that a capable left-hander is in the group.

Chief Rivals Also Bolstered.

In advance of a close inspection of the added talent, evidence is lacking that the other first division clubs—the Pirates, Giants and Cardinals—have been strengthened since the last base hit was made.

Annoyed by the slowness a foot of Earl Sheely, the Pirates have sent the surest catch of thrown balls in baseball back to the Pacific Coast and acquired Gus Suhr to play first base. The San Francisco player, however, has yet to pass the test of major league fire.

The Giants were perplexed from start to finish of the last season with inadequate protection at second base. Eddie Marshall is being greeted on the basis of a Bridgeport reputation as the answer, but major league infield positions can not safely be given away in January. The Giants, too, may stand a bit of outfield tinkering with profit.

Personnel of Cards Unchanged.

With a new top sergeant, Gabby Street, barking the orders, the St Louis Cardinals are prepared to fight it out this summer along the same lines employed in 1929. There may be some rearrangement of players, but the personnel will be little changed.

Two second-division clubs of last year may make serious bids for improved positions in the new baseball season. The Phillies were up and coming at the close with as effective an attack as the major leagues have seen in many a day. Harry McCurdy and Al Cooper have been added to the catching staff. If some of the young pitchers justify the promise they have shown, Burt Shotton will offer a dangerous challenge to the other clubs higher up.

Knights Will Battle Altoona Five Tonight

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Jan. 22.—One of the fastest games of the year is expected tomorrow night when the Knight Store Five takes the floor against the Altoona Overlands, an amateur club, of Altoona, Pa. The visitors are coming here with one of the fastest teams in that section, composed mostly of college players.

Altoona has been defeated only twice this season, one defeat coming at the hands of the Pittsburgh team early in the season. The game will get underway at 8:30 o'clock at the Armory Hall and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected.

Cardinals Send Four Veterans Against Temple Team.

THE Capital collegiate boxing season will open tonight at Brookland Gymnasium when the leather pushers of Catholic and Temple Universities square off at 8:45 for a match of seven bouts.

Catholic, with a team including four veterans, holds prospects of starting its campaign with a victory. The Temple Team, although possessing only one member of the 1929 Owl outfit, is, nevertheless, expected to provide strong opposition. The veterans of the Cardinal array are Capt Jack Malevich, heavyweight; Rocco Blasi, welterweight; Harry Di Giacomo, featherweight, and Johnny De Pasquale, bantamweight.

Probably one of the best bouts of the program, from the standpoint of even competition, will be the one between Blasi and Irving Kutcher, the Temple welterweight. Last year these two met in a thrilling scrap with Blasi getting the decision by a shade.

Coach Mitchell Confident.

Coach Ted Mitchell expressed confidence last night in sizing up the Cardinals' chances of winning. He said he looked for a successful debut if his charges make good on the

FRANKLIN U. NOSES OUT G.U. FROSH

IN a close guarding game marred by much personal contact and the frequent falling of the players owing to the slippery condition of the floor, the Benjamin Franklin University Quintet last night defeated the Georgetown Freshmen, 18 to 17, at the Hilltop. Goals by Keefer, Sherman and Singman in the second half enabled the Franklins to win, despite a furious rally of the freshmen led by Crowley and McHale.

Keefer, former Business High star, featured the work of the Franklins. His defensive playing was as effective as was his shooting, which netted 7 points for the best individual total of the game.

Benjamin Franklin led at intermission, 9 to 8, and, excepting about a minute when the score was tied at 11, managed to stay in the van until the final whistle.

Thomas and Rice Sign 1930 Nat Contracts

Two more Nationals, both of whom were offered straight contracts with no bonus strings attached, signed their 1930 contracts yesterday. In the morning, Outfielder Sam Rice, who makes his home here, affixed his John Hancock on the dotted line following a short conference with Owner Clark Griffith at club headquarters, while the afternoon mail brought the glad tidings that the terms offered Pitcher Myles Thomas were satisfactory to him.

President Griffith also announced the Nats' opponents in two games to be staged at the Biloxi training camp, the New Orleans Pelicans being booked for the opener on March 14, with the Louisville Colonels due to be met two days later.

G.U. FIVE 48-27 VICTOR OVER HOPKINS

Dutton Runs Wild to Score 20 Points at Hilltop.

FOR the first ten minutes of their game last night at the Hilltop, Johns Hopkins gave Georgetown a fierce fight, but the Blue and Gray, with Don Dutton running wild, cut loose thereafter and coasted into victory by a score of 48 to 27. Dutton easily took the scoring honors of the night by gathering the fine total of 20 points, compiled from nine field goals and a pair of free tosses.

Hopkins was handicapped by the absence of its star center, Gene De Buskey, whose studies kept him in Baltimore. Little Fritz Stude assumed the burden for the visitors. This youngster acquitted himself creditably, accumulating 14 points and proving a demon on defense, but his teammates were unable to keep pace with him.

Two long heaves by Fritz Stude, added to one by his brother Oscar, who started at center, and one by Siegel, enabled Hopkins to take the lead in the early stages, 8 to 5. Dutton, McCarthy and White then shot fielders to bring Georgetown to the front, never to be headed, although for a short space Hopkins hung close behind on points by Fritz Stude and Passarew.

Dutton Breaks Away For Two Goals.

Dutton, toward the close of the first half, broke away for two goals in succession, and the Hilltop led at intermission by 22 to 13.

The second half quickly developed into a romp for Georgetown with the regulars whipping the cords almost at their pleasure. With the count standing 36 to 16, Coach Bill Duds.k sent in all of the reserves, one by one, and the game ended with an entire substitute team on the floor for Georgetown. Stude continued his good work in this half, scoring two field goals and four one-pointers. Passarew, who played a strong defensive game for the visitors, tossed in a couple of goals from midfloor in the waning moments.

The victory gave Georgetown a record of seven wins and as many losses for the season.

Old Line Five Beats Navy By Rally

Rankin, Radice and Gaylor Lead Way to 43-29 Victory.

Middies Gain 17 to 7 Advantage in First 10 Minutes.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 22.—A fast-passing Maryland U. basket ball machine today came from behind to overcome Navy in one of the most exciting games witnessed here since the clash between the same foes a year ago. Maryland won, 43 to 29, today.

Excitement was replete throughout, as the Middies, with an attack especially prepared for the Old Liners' zone defense, flashed a bewildering assortment of dashing cutting plays which near the middle of the initial period found them in the van, 17 to 7.

Maryland, however, had led, 6 to 2, at the end of the initial four minutes, in which time the Navy players appeared overanxious and were penalized frequently for "steps." However, in the next six minutes, Navy cut loose and soon were out in front by 10 points.

Maryland Comes Back With Rally.

In this attack some great long-range flipping by Campbell, including one heave from the pivot circle, and Allen's following featured. But in the last five minutes Maryland retaliated with an equally brilliant offensive, featuring Radice, Gaylor and Rankin, and five seconds before the half ended Gaylor sank the tying double-decker from the vicinity of the foul strip. The score at half time was 26-all. Colestock and Reinhardt made quick field goals for the Tars at the start of the second period, after which play became even more spirited and both teams missed any number of free throws.

After nine minutes of the second half had expired Navy still clung to the 4-point edge gained at the period's opening, but the score had accumulated to 31 to 27.

Two Wild Minutes Follow.

Two wild minutes followed in which the pace was so fast that the officials became winded along with the players. In this spurt the floor plays of Chalmers and the deadly eye of Rankin featured, along with two long shots by Julie Radice, before he was removed via foul penalties. In the brief spell Maryland overcame Navy's lead and forged ahead 36 to 33.

For several minutes Navy became desperate and held the Old Liners at bay but in doing so lost a bit of their own accuracy. In this 7-minute period Navy made but 3 and Maryland 5 points. Going into the final 2 minutes the visitors led 41 to 36.

Red Allen followed with a field goal to raise the Middies' hopes, but they died almost instantly, when Rankin from under the basket got a quick pass from Berger to sew the contest up.

Ring Injuries Kill Milwaukee Amateur

Sheboyan, Wis., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—William Schrantski, 24, Milwaukee amateur boxer, died today of brain injury after a three-round bout with Walter Cappel. Cappel was released. Schrantski took severe punishment during the bout and collapsed on the ropes as he left the ring.

Cards Send Jonnard, Catcher, to Houston

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals last night announced the release to Houston of the Texas League on an optional agreement of Clarence Jonnard, third string catcher of the 1929 Red Birds. The release cuts the Cardinals' catching staff to four men and is another step in the club's plan to place the Houston farm in a pennant contending position in the Texas League.

N. Y. U. Loses Edwards, Track Ace, January 31

New York, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Authorities at New York University have revealed that Phil Edwards, great Negro middle distance runner, will not be eligible to compete for the university after January 31 and therefore will not defend his half-mile crown at the intercollegiate indoor track and field championships here in March.

Although he has had only two years of varsity competition, he completes three years of eligibility at the end of this month. During his sophomore year he competed as an unattached athlete, as scholastic difficulties prevented his competing for New York University.

His inability to compete makes it virtually impossible for the Violets to successfully defend the indoor title they captured last year for the first time. Edwards not only won the half-mile championship, but ran anchor on the team that won the 2-mile relay event.

Teams Deny Plan to Enter Professional Court League

ON THE eve of the meeting called for the formulation tonight of a professional basket ball league, to operate independently of the Amateur Athletic Union of the District of Columbia, teams prominently mentioned for berths in the league last night expressed little interest in the proposed circuit, with two clubs denying flatly that they would turn professional.

Brooke Grubb, manager of the Silver Spring Giants, which have been frequently mentioned as a prime mover in the organization of the new circuit, denied emphatically that his club would enter the proposed league and announced that Silver Spring was prepared to compete under amateur rules in the A. A. U. tournament sponsored by The Washington Post. Manager Grubb last night obtained registration blanks for his players in the unlimited class.

Another denial that entrance in the proposed professional league was contemplated came from Manager Charles Corbett, of the St. Mary's Celtics, of Alexandria, who announced that his team would not be represented and in contrast would continue to play as an amateur team, with the likelihood that it would compete in the District of Columbia A. A. U. tournament.

With a view to remaining an amateur team, Manager Corbett announced that the Celtics had dropped from the roster of the team Mickey Macdonald, who was suspended by the A. A. U., and Pepco Barry, professional baseball player.

Manager Bernie Peacock, of the Skinker Bros. Eagles, declared: "I don't know anything about the proposed league, but I have been invited to attend, and the Eagles will be represented at the meeting. Whether or not we will enter is another thing. I can't discuss that, as I know so little about the league."

Jackie Fields Planning Title Fights in Europe

Chicago, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Jackie Fields may risk his welterweight championship in European rings this year.

His manager, Gig Rooney, today said he was negotiating with Jeff Dickson, one of Europe's leading promoters, for a championship match between Fields and Jack Hood, English title holder, in a London ring this summer. An engagement may be arranged also between Fields and Len Harvey, middleweight champion of Europe, for Paris.

Babe Ruth Eliminated, Shooting 85 in Tourney

Miami, Fla., Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Babe Ruth, home run king of baseball, was eliminated from the Glenn H. Curtiss championship golf tournament in the second day of match play at Country Club Estate Course here today.

The bambino fell before the steady putting of Larry Taylor, of Toledo, Ohio, 4 and 2, long-distance driving that carried Ruth to victory in his first-round match yesterday failing to keep him in the running while he carded seven 3-putt greens in his score.

Taylor had Ruth 4 down at the turn and carried his advantage on the returning nine for a comparatively easy victory. Taylor shot a 79 medal score, and Ruth listed 85 for his total.

8 Days Left to Register For A.A.U. Tournament

Eight days remain for teams in the unlimited and 145-pound classes which will play in the District of Columbia A. A. U. championship basket ball tournament to register their players.

Registrations for these two classes of the tourney will close on February 1. To date, indications are that the entry list of 89 teams which set a record for the tournament last year, will be exceeded by this season's entries at the rate which the teams are entering the tourney. The championships are being sponsored for the fourth consecutive year by The Washington Post.

Registration blanks may be obtained at The Washington Post Sports Department.

Ornstein Reappointed To National A.A.U. Post

Charles L. Ornstein, secretary of the South Atlantic Association, and prominent in athletics here and in Baltimore, has been reappointed chairman of the national redistricting committee of the union, having been instrumental last year in the division of South Atlantic territory whereby the District of Columbia Association came into being. Ornstein now plans to organize new associations in West Virginia, New Jersey, Texas, the Carolinas, Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

West Virginia First Foe of G. U. Boxers

As a result of cancellation of tentative arrangements with Penn State for a match Saturday night, Georgetown University will not inaugurate its boxing season until Saturday, February 1, when a clash is scheduled with West Virginia University, to be fought at Morgantown, W. Va. Efforts were made by Hilltop authorities to arrange a match with Washington & Lee at Lexington this week-end, but it was found impossible. However, the Lexington team probably will be brought here for an engagemnt on February 17.

Four matches definitely have been scheduled for the Blue and Gray mittmen, as follows: West Virginia, February 1; Army, at West Point, February 15; Navy, at Annapolis, February 22, and Western Maryland, at Westminster, Md., March 8. Georgetown also will enter the intercollegiate championship tournament at Philadelphia on March, 21-22.

Agua Caliente Leader Is Displaced

O. Dutra Falls Behind With 79 as Espinosa Cards 71.

Gale Boosts Scores; Dawson, Amateur, Also Shoots 71.

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN.

AGUA CALIENTE, Lower California, Mexico, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Like a stanch ship weathering a storm, Horton Smith, young Joplin, Mo., professional, rode a gale today into a dual leadership of the Agua Caliente $25,000 open golf tournament here. The close of the third round, with but eighteen holes to play tomorrow, found this young and most consistent money winner in tournament golf sharing honors with Al Espinosa, Chicago veteran, with cards aggregating 224 for the 54 holes.

Mariners in quest of gold in early days prayed for such a gale as blew here today, but golfers in search of the greatest purse of money ever offered to them—$10,000 to the winner—did not relish it. It blew all hopes of par playing into vanished expectations. Five over par was the best card turned in today, this honor being shared by Al Espinosa and Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, one of the high-ranking amateurs in national golf.

Places in the second bracket, with cards aggregating 225 for the 54 holes, were shared by Al Watrous, Detroit; Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Calif., and Charles Guest, Los Angeles.

Dutra Brothers Fall Back In the Race.

Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, Fla., with a 77 today, was alone in the bracket of 226.

The Dutra brothers, of Spanish descent, who threatened the Scotchmen yesterday with the low cards of 72 each, placing Olin Dutra in the lead of the tournament and Mortie not far behind, today were blown back to cards of 79 each.

The 52 professionals and six amateurs look forward to the final spurt tomorrow with zeal. The 22 prizes aggregating $25,000 yet remain anybody's money, and the progress of the tournament in the past three days would make it a sheer gamble to undertake selection of the winner of the $10,000 first-place prize.

Al Espinosa played a remarkable round today and this is what placed him in the first place tie with Horton Smith:

Par—out 4 4 3 4 4 4 4 5 3—36
Espinosa:
Out ... 5 4 4 4 4 4 4 6 3 —38
Par—in 4 3 5 4 4 3 4 5 4—36—71
Espinosa:
In ..... 4 4 5 4 4 4 4 4 5—38—76

The card that pulled Horton Smith into first place tie with Espinosa reads:

Out .... 5 3 3 4 4 5 4 7 4—39
In .... 4 3 5 4 6 3 4 4 5—38—77

It was Smith's seven on the eighth, a par 560-yard hole, that spelled what would irritate even the most calm golfers. He sailed with the wind into trouble on the treacherous fairways, and approached into traps for loss of two strokes.

The scores follow:

Joe Turnesa, New York, 79—74—80—233.
John Golden, Paterson, N. J., 80—74—79—232; Neil Christian, Portland, Oreg., 77—77—79—233. *Johnny Mescall, Los

WOLTZ AND POTOMAC QUINTETS CLASH TONIGHT

A.A.U. Rivals Seek Lead In League

Both Clubs Unbeaten in Race for Community Title.

Forney Resumes Post With Woltz; Game at Central High.

A BASKET BALL championship battle that may have its sequel in the District A. A. U. tournament to be conducted under the auspices of The Washington Post in March, will be staged at Central High School tonight at 9 o'clock, when the Woltz Photographer and Potomac Boat Club fives meet in what promises to be the deciding game of the spirited Community Center Unlimited League race.

Neither of these teams has been defeated in the league to date, and, as the contenders meet each other but once this year, tonight's contest has all the prospects of deciding the ultimate title winner. Both of these teams are to compete in the A. A. U. tournament, and, on the strength of their respective records to date, stand out among the leading contenders for the amateur title.

Jack Forney Returns To Action.

Although the Woltz's winning combination has been partially broken up by the removal of Mickey McDonald, following his suspension from the A. A. U., the return of Jack Forney to center, after a brief suspension, was welcomed by the Woltz followers. The Photographers will have Buscher, Fones and Sheckels, forwards; Forney, center; Banta, Walker and Dean, guards, available.

Potomac Boat Club will depend on its formidable regular line-up at the start. This quint includes Lilly and Aman, forwards; Timmons, center; Atkins and Wiler, guards; Eshbaugh, forward; Cunningham, center, and Canavin and Kelso, guards, are likely to see action before the battle terminates.

Although a victorry tonight virtually assures the winner of the league championship it will not clinch that honor. The Woltz Team has three other foes to meet before the season ends and the Boatmen have four additional games listed.

Your Prosperity Depends Upon Your Neighbor's

In former days (and yet, in many parts of the world) the direct exchange of one man's product for that of his neighbor was the customary method of securing those things which he could not make for himself.

The farmer would bring his grain, vegetables or live stock to the trading center and there exchange them for farming implements, clothing and other necessities or luxuries.

Under such conditions mutual dependency was clearly evident. If one man refused to exchange his goods for his neighbor's, then both suffered.

The principle is the same in all transactions today, but the method has been changed by the use of money, which represents the value of a man's labor or of his product.

You can not expect another person to buy your product if you do not buy his, because there is no basis of exchange. He can not continue to produce if he has no sale; he can not trade with others and they can not trade with you.

* * * * * *

Prosperity is a fact in the United States. It will continue to be so just so long as the American individual maintains his normal rate of expenditures—his willingness to exchange his goods for those of his neighbor . . . If any individual determines that he will curtail his purchasing habits he is withdrawing a medium of exchange that will be reflected throughout the circle and extend back to him in a decrease of the demand for HIS product of labor.

The Modern Store

Stores of the present day are a direct outgrowth of the necessity for more economical distribution of the world's products and for a standardization of values that would prove of benefit to all.

No longer can the man with a better trading instinct return from market with two pairs of shoes while his neighbor, who exchanged the same quantity and quality of products received only one pair. Today the "exchange" value is definite and the same to all—both receive two pairs!

Retail distribution through local stores has proved the most efficient and economical method for the manufacturer. It has enabled him to produce in quantity, eliminate the excessive cost of direct selling and has provided greater conveniences and savings for the consumer.

FIRM PRICES MARK DULL STOCK SALES

Tobacco, Farm Implement and Amusement Shares All Advance.

FOX FILM ISSUES RALLY

New York, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—A group of farm implement, building material, tobacco and amusement shares were bid up moderately in today's stock market, but, on the whole, price trends continued to vacillate with monotonous persistence. The best that could be said for the market was that it maintained a firm undertone. Transfers aggregated but 2,305,930 shares, a slight increase over yesterday's.

Industrial and business news continued of a mildly favorable but not particularly convincing character. Iron Age reported further gains in both demand and production in the steel industry during the week, but added that price unsettlement has tended to restrain new buying. Iron Age's composite price for finished steel receded from 2.319 cents a pound to 2.312, the lowest since December, 1927.

Freight car loadings for the week ended January 11 showed a sharp gain from the previous week, due in a large measure to the New Year's holiday. Compared to the like weeks of the past two years, loadings showed declines of more than 40,000 cars. The crude oil production figures for last week indicated that the price cutting is having the desired effect of curtailing output. Gasoline refinery figures showed further gains in stocks, however, and further sagging of gasoline prices was reported.

Commercial Paper Eases.

Money brokers diverted themselves with further discussions as to the probability of cuts in the London and New York bank rates tomorrow. There was no change in call money—renewals at 4½ per cent with funds later available at 4—but commercial paper eased a little.

A cut in the New York Reserve Bank rate was generally believed to hinge on the action of the Bank of England. A cut in London is believed to be imminent, but may be deferred because of the recent decline in sterling exchange on New York and Paris.

The farm implement shares were buoyed by predictions of a larger volume of business in 1930 than last year, and the construction and building material shares were given a boost on the basis of the widespread expectations of a steady recovery in this industry. The recent advance in the amusement shares was inclined to peter out under realizing, although Fox Film A was sent up 3 points in short covering precipitated by news of a conference of attorneys for both the corporation and the receivership petitioners. Nothing came of the conference, however. Coppers were depressed by bearish rumors regarding the maintenance of the red metal price level. Chemical shares were unsettled by a drop in U. S. Industrial Alcohol, attributed to various rumors, one of which was that its chief competitor has developed a process reducing production costs by half.

American Tobacco Advances.

J. I. Case advanced 7 points, and American Tobacco, Eastman Kodak, Johns Manville, Foundation Co., Ingersoll Rand, Loew's, Mecy, Norfolk & Western, Schulte Stores, United Cigar Stores preferred, Western Union, Worthington Pump and a few others gained 2 to 5 points. American Radiator, International Nickel and Radio made moderate progress in active trading. U. S. Industrial Alcohol dropped 7 points and rebounded about 3. Air Reduction closed off about 5. Republic Steel, National Air Transport, Stone & Webster and American Locomotive were among issues losing about 2 points. U. S. Steel closed fractionally lower.

Commodities moved narrowly. Wheat and cotton futures closed slightly higher, helped by reports of better flour buying and steadiness of the Liverpool cotton market.

Leading foreign exchanges eased with sterling going slightly below parity at $4.86 9-16 for cables, off three-sixteenth from yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Wheat values went strongly upward at times today but reacted later influenced by word that big export sales from North America were mostly Canadian. Total wheat export business today from Canada and the United States was the largest in some time, about 2,000,000 bushels, with the lion's share 1,750,000 bushels credited to Canada. Meanwhile the trading basis for United States hard winter wheat at the Gulf of Mexico was firm, touching the best figures yet this season.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were irregular at ½ of a cent net decline to ½ of a cent advance, compared to 24 hours before. Corn finished ¼ to ⅛ of a cent up, oats, ⅛ to ¼ to ⅜ to ½ of a cent advanced, and provisions 5 to 7 cents down.

Helping to hoist the wheat market here was talk current today that fully 500,000 bushels of wheat in Chicago had been ordered out of storage this week. Much notice was also taken of a statement issued today by one of the larger grain houses here pointing out that the speculative trade was bullish some month ago when the price of wheat stood at $1.60, although the cash wheat situation then was bearish, whereas, now with the price more than 30 cents lower speculators are largely bearish, despite cash wheat being in a strong position to respond to any increased demand. Persistent buying of wheat future deliveries here went hand in hand today with such advices.

However, Chicago advances in prices of wheat were practically wiped out in the late transactions, as early buyers turned to the selling side of the market, and striving to realize profits. A feature of the day's trade was a good deal of so-called "spread" dealings that consisted of sales of the July delivery and of simultaneous purchases of May. Smallness of domestic primary receipts of wheat continued to arouse interest, and so likewise did word of much better demand for flour both on export and domestic account.

Corn prices appeared to be governed chiefly by the action of wheat. Notwithstanding prospects of further cold clear weather, rural offerings of corn to arrive were easier. Oats reflected smallness of receipts, as well as good-sized purchases of oats for shipment from here.

Provisions declined, owing largely to setbacks in the value of hogs.

RISE IN EUROPEAN BONDS IS FEATURE

Nearly All Leading Foreign Shares Continue to Advance.

CONVERTIBLES ARE DULL

New York, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—The improvement in European government bonds continued in today's market. Some of the leading loans were under active accumulation and prices ruled at the top levels of the past year.

The reparations settlement has been accompanied by a marked trend toward the foreign list. Some of the large German utilities and industries were understood to have been negotiating with New York bankers for financing on this market, but under the agreement reached at The Hague Germany is to postpone any private offerings until after the flotation of the reparations issue, expected in the spring. America's share is estimated at around $75,000,000.

Domestic listings, on the other hand, have met keen competition from approximately $400,000,000 in new bond issues during the past ten days, most of which have been attractively priced.

German 7s Advance.

The German 7s was prominent today, although it fluctuated within a range of only one-quarter point, closing an eighth higher at 106⅜. German Bank of Agriculture obligations were strong and rose from one-half to 1½ points. French 7½s advanced to 120 and the 7s touched 114¼, while listings of Italy, Denmark, Norway and Great Britain responded to good buying by moving up. In the South America department Brazilians were active and higher.

Secretary Mellon's optimistic views on the bond market had little immediate effect on trading in domestic issues, which again eased. At the close the average for 30 securities was 98.6, compared with 98.5, the low for the year, and 99.1, the high mark established on January 14. The easiness of the market is attributed almost entirely to the enormous amount of new bonds being offered to the investing public, which is said to be still rather apathetic toward all but prime obligations.

A few high grade rails declined a point or more, among them Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s, Canadian National 5s, St. Paul general 4½s, series E, and Pennsylvania Consolidated 4s. There was a fairly good tone to the industrial group, especially in the case of bonds with liberal yields. Murray Body 6½s rose 3¼, Fisk Rubber 8s were up 2. Illinois Steel 4½s lost 2 points on the first sale recorded since the denial of the report that United States Steel was planning immediate retirement of its subsidiaries' funded debt. Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s recovered yesterday's 1-point loss. Republic Brass 6s gained 1½.

Utilities Are Quiet.

Utilities were quiet. American Telephone 5s, when issued, made no net change. There were fractional recessions in Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, April maturity, Montana Power 5s and New York Telephone 4½s. Utah Power & Light 5s attracted some attention, but held firm. Pacific Telephone 5s rose 1¾.

There was little to be said for the convertibles, except that they were dull. Fluctuations were small.

United States Governments gave promise of action in the early trading but the demand soon dried up and net declines prevailed. The Treasury 4s lost 13-32s of a point.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

Pressed Steel; Texas Sulphur.

J. R. P.—Will you kindly let me know what you think of Pressed Steel Car common and preferred stock, and Texas Gulf Sulphur?

Answer—Pressed Stel Car preferred pays dividends at the rate of $7 annually, but nothing has been paid on the common since 1924. While the preferred may be regarded as a speculative rather than a conservative investment, the common stock is highly speculative, with the outlook not attractive for it from a dividend standpoint. This company is quite a factor in the manufacture of railway equipment. Last September it was intimated, but not officially, that earnings for 1929 would cover preferred dividends and leave a fairly substantial margin for the common stock.

1930 PROVES GOOD YEAR FOR ACACIA CO.

$57,000,000 in New Business Written by Firm in Past 12 Months.

$700,000 FOR SALARIES

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Progress was the keynote of the annual report of the Acacia Mutual Life Association submitted to the board of directors at its quarterly meeting yesterday.

The report showed the company wrote last year more than $57,000,000 of new business, and made a net gain of over $37,000,000. There was in force on December 31 $340,000,000. The assets are now $34,000,000, an increase of five and three-quarter million dollars during the year. The surplus is over $1,600,000, an increase of $300,000 during the year, the increase being all the more remarkable because of the low costs at which Acacia sells its insurance and the good dividends it pays to its policyholders.

The mortality experience of the company for the year was 42 per cent. The gain in assets was 17 per cent, as compared with a general gain in assets of all life insurance companies of 9 1-3 per cent. The report showed that the company paid out in salaries last year in Washington almost $700,000, while it spent about three-quarters of a million dollars for supplies bought in the city during the year in the conduct of its business. Its deposits in Washington banks last year were over $11,000,000.

Mount Vernon Savings Bank.

Claude H. Woodward, as president of the Mount Vernon Savings Bank, will preside at all meetings of its board of directors, it was announced yesterday, following the board's meeting of organization. R. Golden Donaldson, who had been chairman of the board, at his own request, was not reelected to the directorate at the annual meeting Tuesday.

All other officers were reelected as follows: Claude H. Woodward, president; A. O. Wharton, William H. Johnston, E. C. Davison, Frank W. Lee, vice presidents; Robert T. Highfield, cashier; Leo E. Madigan, comptroller; T. Edwin Norris, A. Mistretta, assistant cashiers, and Hayden Johnson, counsel.

District of Columbia life insurance sales in December increased 19 per cent over December, 1928, statistics released yesterday by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn., revealed. The District stood third on the national list, being exceeded in gains by but two States, Iowa, first, and Washington, second.

December sales in the District totaled $6,362,000 and the percentage of local companies reporting gains for the month was 51. District sales for the year aggregated $63,400,000.

Rosslyn Steel Co. Directors.

At the recent annual meeting of the Rosslyn Steel & Cement Co., the following directors were elected: P. R. Bailey, Ralph A. Drain, C. Emory Galliher, C. H. Galliher, W. G. Galliher, W. C. Kiesler, Arthur J. Linn and Malcolm S. McConihe.

The board organized immediately after the stockholders meeting and elected the following officers: Ralph A. Drain, president; P. R. Bailey, vice president; W. G. Galliher, treasurer; Arthur J. Linn, secretary.

The stock and bonds of this company are widely held in Washington.

An educational tour of the offices of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., February 5, and of the Corby Baking Co., March 5, will be made by members of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking. It was announced yesterday, Biri Shultz, educational director, New York Stock Exchange, will address the institute's forum meeting, February 7.

H. F. Kimball, chairman of the chapter's athletic committee, announces that Baltimore chapter bowlers will be here Saturday night to meet Washington chapter. The teams and chapter officers will have dinner at the Raleigh Hotel and the contests will take place at the Arcade. The local pin men were defeated at Baltimore and hope to retrieve lost honors.

Raymond G. Marx, Riggs National Bank, chairman of the auditors' section, District of Columbia Bankers Association announced last night that the dinner meeting of the section this evning at 5:30 o'clock, at the National Press Club, would be addressed by L. K. Sunderland, chief of section of rules and regulations Internal Revenue Bureau, on "The Federal Income Tax."

Paramount-Famous-Lasky Co.

P. R.—What is the outlook for Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation?

Answer—Production of pictures last year is officially stated to have broken all high records for the company. Earnings for 1929 are officially estimated at about $5.80 a share, as compared with the present dividend rate of $3 on the old stock. The corporation will expend approximately $1,500,000 this year to enlarge production above the 1929 rate. Plans have been decided upon to film this year 65 feature pictures and 52 short subjects. Last December stockholders approved the proposal of directors to split the stock on a 2-for-1 basis, the new split stock to be delivered after January 1.

While nothing officially has been announced, it is generally believed that the new shares will go on a regular annual $2 dividend basis, which would be equivalent to $4 on the present stock, which pays $3. Last October the new shares were admitted to the securities market on the Produce Exchange. Paramount is regarded as being on a sound earnings basis and in a strong financial position. The stock may be regarded as a conservative investment, as the outlook for the sound motion picture business is good.

Western Union.

L. J. O.—Can you give me some information, through your column, on Western Union? What are the prospects for this stock? Anything you can tell me will be appreciated.

Answer—Western Union does more than four-fifths of the land-line telegraph service in the United States and carries on a communication business to all parts of the world through cables and connections. In the first three quarters of last year earnings were equal to $11.25 a share, as compared with $11.26 a share on a smaller capitalization in 1928. Profits of $11.25 for the first three quarters of 1929 compare with $15.11 a share for the whole of 1928. This company has paid dividends for a number of years, and the stock has a high rating as an investment issue. Plans for radio competition between domestic points is not regarded as a serious menace to earnings outlook.

Bangor and Aroostock.

C. T.—I notice that the rails are beginning to show signs of activity. I am a stockholder in several roads, but would like your opinion concerning Bangor & Aroostock.

Answer—This road derives a large part of its revenues from the movement of potatoes in Maine. The last crop is said to have been large, with the price of potatoes higher than usual, making for a better purchasing power along the road's right-of-way. Earnings for 1929 are estimated at about $8.60 a share, as compared with the present dividend of $3.60. Dividends have been paid on the common stock since 1904. Stockholders of record September 25, last, were given the right to subscribe to 35,232 shares of common stock with a par value of $50, at 60 a share, in the ratio of one new for every five shares of common stock held, and two new shares for each five shares of preferred stock.

UNRULY CAB DRIVERS TO COST EMPLOYERS PERMIT REVOCATION

Utilities Board Will Keep Record of Chauffeurs' Police Difficulties.

TOO FREQUENT TROUBLE TO RESULT IN WARNING

Persistence in Hiring Law Violators to Be Grounds for Taking Up Permit.

Owners will be held responsible for the acts of their employes in the enforcement of the new taxicab regulations promulgated by the Public Utilities Commission.

The commission will keep a record of arrests of drivers for violations of law, and where it is found that an owner consistently employs drivers of bad character the commission will revoke the owner's operating permit, thereby putting him out of business.

This is a new and unexpected phase of the Utilities Commission's regulations and is a development of conferences between commission and traffic and police officials, at which the provisions of the regulations and the enforcement of them were considered. It gives the traffic and police officials a much stronger weapon than they have had heretofore in their efforts to confine taxicab operation to law-abiding individuals.

Records to Be Kept.

Under police and traffic regulations, the only action possible is against the individual driver who violates the law. But under the authority of the Utilities Commission regulations action will be taken against the owner who persistently employs drivers who get in trouble with the law.

Records of violations and arrests of public vehicle drivers will be furnished the Utilities Commission by the Police Department and a card index will be kept by the commission. Where it is found that owners frequently employ men who get into difficulties warning will be given, and, if that is not sufficient, the commission will revoke the owner's operating permit on the ground that he does not give sufficient attention to the public interest in the character and type of his employes.

Will Raise Age Limit.

The commission announced yesterday that it would revise its regulations to make 21 years the minimum age of public vehicle drivers. It was eighteen years in the regulations as adopted by the commission, but police and traffic officials pointed out that the limit in their regulations is 21 years. The commission also has agreed to eliminate from its regulations the requirement that a taxicab must have an engine capable of propelling it 35 miles an hour over a smooth-surfaced street. Police officials feared that provision might weaken the speed regulations or be considered as an authority to speed.

Man Fires at Panther Along Marlboro Pike

Phantom Prowler of Anacostia Attacks Two Porkers, but Continues to Elude Search by Police of Eleventh Precinct.

Anacostia's phantom prowler is still loose, maybe in fact, or maybe in fiction, after a day and night in which a second pig had been killed by an unseen marauder and a stray shot had been taken in the darkness by a Marlboro pike resident at "an animal larger than a dog."

Philip Botts, a resident of the Botts Hog Farm, about one mile on the pike from the District Line, told Eleventh precinct police he fired a single load of buckshot at a slinking creature in his back yard. Police searched in vain for a slain "panther."

Harry Fowler, who lives about one-half mile from the District Line on Marlboro pike, told police that earlier in the day one of his pigs met death in a backyard pen and that the slayer also mutilated nine other porkers.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture, and other experts on animal characteristics, are equally positive that Mr. Fowler's swine met its fate at the teeth of an ordinary dog, and not a very large dog, either.

On the other hand, perhaps the killer was a couple of other animals.

Three more experienced hunters and handlers of wild animals will join the safari today. They are Rex Ingham, of Accotink, Va., who has spent his life breeding and training animals for circuses and carnivals and is one of the best-known wild animal men in show business; J. S. C. Boswell, of the National Geographic Society, and Jerry Wood, noted big game hunter, of Washington.

Although they are convinced the marauder is none other than a stray dog, grabbing its free lunch where it can find the wherewithal, the trio plans to make every effort to catch the pooch, and register appropriate surprise if it should turn out to be something else.

Dr. Hartley H. T. Jackson, biologist of the Department of Agriculture, yesterday denied statements attributed to him to the effect that the "panther" may be a coyote. Dr. Jackson says it's "just a domestic dog," if the hair that was submitted to him for analysis is really that of the prowler.

More people continued to call the Eleventh Precinct to report seeing the fabulous beast yesterday, each, according to the established custom, giving a different description. But although Capt. Charles Peck rushed his minions to the spot toot sweet each time, they found nothing.

The police dogs with which the precinct cops are endeavoring to trail the silent, ghostly panther, were identified yesterday as members of the Secret Service; at least, if the pups have scented any predatory beasts they certainly have managed to keep the fact remarkably secret.

SIX PERSONS HELD IN FOUR RUM RAIDS BY POLICE SQUADS

Letterman's Men Confiscate 43 Quarts of Alleged Liquor in Drive.

ONE PLACE SEARCHED NEAR HEADQUARTERS

Two Detectives Arrest Man After Reported Sale of Half Pint.

Operating a few blocks from police headquarters in the District Building yesterday, members of Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman's squad staged raids on three alleged liquor establishments, arrested three women and two men and confiscated 43 quarts of alleged liquor.

The raiders first visited a house on Thirteen-and-a-half street northwest, near D street, where Mrs. Tessie Richards, 34 years old, was arrested on charges of sale, possession and maintaining a nuisance.

Pair Are Arrested.

On Ohio avenue avenue near Fourteenth street, the squad invaded a house where Tex Vesta Cooper, 38 years old, and his wife, Alma Cooper, 35, were arrested.

From Ohio avenue, Sergt. Letterman and Detectives Richard J. Cox, George McCarron and James Mostyn went to a house on Twelfth street southeast near C street, where Silas Coles, 40 years old, and his wife, Louise Cole, 30, were arrested.

When the raiders attempted to gain entrance, they said, occupants of the house refused to open the door. Rushing to the back of the house, the police were confronted by a large police dog, which only tended to hasten their dash through a rear door.

Detectives Charge Sale.

Acting on a tip supplied by M. C. Taylor and J. T. Weiger, Federal prohibition agents, two headquarters detectives arrested James Parker, colored, 27 years old, of I street near Twenty-fifth street northwest, on charges of illegal possession and sale of liquor.

The two detectives, S. F. Gravely and W. F. Burke say they purchased a half pint of liquor from Parker, after which they searched the house and reported finding 44 pints and one half-gallon jar of liquor and 5 pints of alcohol. Parker was held in $2,000 bond.

FORMER BUILDING OF UNION SAVINGS BANK PURCHASED

Commercial National Men Acquire Structure for $225,000.

EXPANSION IN FUTURE PLANNED BY COMPANY

Extensive Improvements to Be Made, Is Statement of New Owners.

Interests connected with the Commercial National Bank, which recently absorbed the banking business of the Continental Trust Co., have acquired from the Washington Investment Trust, Inc., of Boston, Mass., the former Union Savings Bank Building at 710 Fourteenth street northwest, immediately north of the Commercial National Bank Building, Fourteenth and G streets, at a consideration of 225,000, it was announced last night.

Representatives of the acquiring interests stated that the purchase price is considered an extremely low figure and that extensive improvements will be made on the property, to be held for the future expansion of the Commercial National Bank.

Originally of One Story.

The upper seven stories of the purchased building, an eight-story stone structure, were built about twenty years ago by Johnson & Nesbit, over an original one-story structure built on ground secured by the Amercan Securty & Trust Co. as an early location. Milburn & Heister were the architects.

A building similar to the original structure was also erected on G street just west of the Commercial National Bank Building.

Bought by National City.

After the American Security & Trust Co. moved to its present location at Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest in 1905, the G street building was purchased by the National City Bank of Washington, later absorbed by the Commercial National Bank, and the building on Fourteenth street by E. Quincy Smith, then president of the Union Savings Bank, which had started business in the southern part of the Bond Building.

The Fourteenth street building was enlarged and remodeled and later became the property of the Continental Trust Co. when it absorbed the Union Savings Bank about ten years ago. About six years ago the property was purchased by the Washington Investment Trust, Inc., of Boston, Mass.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was singing:

Jingle bells, jingle bells,
Jingle all the way,
Oh what fun it is to ride
In a one-hoss open sleigh.

"Hey, hey!" I pleaded. "Nix on that song!"

"Why?" she asked, startled.

"Because——"

"That's a woman's reason."

"Well, I don't like to be reminded of this snow."

* * * *

SHE looked out the window. "Oh," she exclaimed, ecstasy seizing her, "it's so beautiful, isn't it?"

"What's so beautiful?"

"The snow."

"It may be beautiful to you and the poets, but not to me."

"Why not?"

"My dear lady, I am the man who must shovel it away."

THAT part of it never occurred to her. "You'd better get to work on it," she said, "or, or——"

"Or what?"

"Or somebody'll get lost in the snow."

It took an hour to find the snow shovel. How I hate shovels.

"You look so romantic," said Luella, in admiration, as I went out, all muffled up, to tackle this job.

"Pathetic, you mean!"

"No," she declared, "you remind me of pictures we see from the great Northwest—the Canadian trappers."

* * * *

SUCH bosh! What I felt like was anything but romantic. Snow is all right in the movies. Me? I'd rather see roses blooming.

"You've got to take weather as it comes," remarked Luella, philosophically, recalling the old verse.

"Whether it's cold or whether it's hot,
We must have weather, whether or not."

That's just the trouble.

CHEST COMMITTEE IS GIVEN WARNING

20 Per Cent More Funds Are Needed This Year, Director Asserts.

$95,000 IS REPORTED

The special gifts committee of the Community Chest was warned yesterday by Elwood Street, Chest director, that unless the percentage of subscriptions this year is 20 per cent more than last year the committee will fall short of its quota and needy and unfortunate persons in the District will suffer.

Donations amounting to $95,026.14 were reported at yesterday's committee meeting. The total for the three days of the drive is $361,028.67. Mrs. Sidney F. Taliaferro's team led again. Vice chairmen reported for their teams as follows:

Barry Mohun, $15,950; Mrs. Charles C. Glover, jr., $7,100; Mrs. Charles A. Goldsmith, $16,300; William Knowles Cooper, $5,875; Arthur Hellen, $3,550; W. W. Everett, $2,950; Mrs. Sidney F. Taliaferro, $18,385; Thomas B. Sweeney, $3,205; Robert V. Fleming, $7,461.14; the executive committee, $14,250.

The banks of the Capital will be asked to contribute $50,000, prorated in proportion to the size of the institution, it was announced.

The Probus Club adopted resolutions pledging 100 per cent support to the chest at its luncheon at the Ambassador Hotel yesterday. The resolution followed a talk by Jack Kamerow.

Whole-hearted support of the campaign was also pledged yesterday by the Merchant and Manufacturers Association.

Dr. John O'Grady, director of Catholic Charities, will speak under the auspices of the Washington Chamber of Commerce over WMAL Saturday night from 6:45 to 7 o'clock on "The Community Chest as a Great Cooperative Enterprize."

CAMPBELL IS URGED FOR COMMISSIONER

War Veteran's Name Given Hoover by Members of Kentucky Delegation.

SAW TWO OFFENSIVES

To the list of those boomed for District Commissioner yesterday was added the name of a disabled war veteran—Maj. Bruce R. Campbell, U. S. A., retired, a native of Kentucky, but for the last eight years a resident of this city.

Maj. Campbell's name was presented to President Hoover yesterday by a delegation of five members of the Kentucky delegation of the House These were Representatives Blackburn, Craddock, Kendall, Langley and Walker.

The three-year terms of Commissioners Proctor L. Dougherty and Sidney P. Taliaferro expire on February 4, but thus far the White House has not made known whether they are to be reappointed or replaced.

Maj. Campbell, who lives at 1516 Emerson street northwest, enlisted in the Army as a private in 1901. With a view to advancing himself, he spent four years at the University of Kentucky, and in 1904 was commissioned a second lieutenant.

Saw Two Offensives.

In the World War, he attained a temporary rank of lieutenant colonel. He went to France in May, 1918, and with the Rainbow Division, went through the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. He was severely gassed, and in 1922 was honorably discharged for physical disability. He has made his home here since.

PLAY TOURNAMENT OF DRAMA GUILD IS STARTED WITH HITS

Amy Clement Leavitt Stars With Harry Westcott on Opening Night.

SUCCESS IS SCORED BY STUDIO PLAYERS

Takoma Park Group to Carry On Program Tonight in Eastern Section.

Amy Clement Leavitt, of the Women's City Club Drama Unit, and Harry Westcott, of the Park View Players, last night carried off major individual honors on the opening program of the Drama Guild's fourth annual one-act play tournament at the Columbia Heights Community Center, Eleventh and Harvard streets northwest.

Amy Clements Leavitt's impressive characterization of Miss Skimp, the lovable old dressmaker, undoubtedly swung much preference to the Women's City Club's "Miss Skimp Sits Still," while Harry Westcott turned the same trick for the Park View Players' offering, "The Fourth Mrs. Phillips."

Rebecca Dial upheld her reputation as a comedienne in her Studio Players' presentation of "A Social Success," and young Robert Volland, as Alec Smith in "A Bargain's a Bargain," offered by the dramatic unit of the Senior Luther League of Atonement Lutheran Church, gave a pleasing portrayal and demonstrated unusual magnetism.

Farce Ran Overtime.

"A Bargain's a Bargain," really has the earmarks of a rollicking good farce, but it ran at least ten minutes overtime.

It was under the direction of Marjorie K. Gaardsmoe, who was called upon, on short notice, to play one of the leading parts, which she did creditably. Others in the cast were Nina Bassist, Robert Himes, Aage Nordby and Wilbur Swanson.

Supporting Amy Clement Leavitt in "Miss Skimp Sits Still," were Gertrude Lyons, Thelma Schmitt, Phyllis E. Stewart and Frances Dolmage.

Others in Cast.

Others in the cast of "The Fourth Mrs. Phillips" were Johanna Schmutzer, Mary Duffy, Louise Lerch, Esmé Lackowitz, W. O. Hancock and Lawrence LeFavre. Miss Lackowitz and Miss Lerch were especially pleasing in their parts.

Charles Farrar and Lucille Swift, of Titian beauty, supported Miss Dial in "A Social Success," which probably is too short a sketch to compete seriously with the other one-act plays.

HELD REGULAR SESSIONS

Eighty-three charges of housebreaking, robbery of pocketbooks, petit larceny and the destruction of private property were lodged against eight colored youths yesterday by Fourth Precinct police following arrests made since the capture of the alleged leader of the gang Sunday afternoon.

Detective W. C. Curtis and Policemen F. R. Gue and O. E. Allen, who made the arrests, reported that the group had staged a series of thefts in various parts of the city, principally in the Southwest section, during the last three and a half months.

The alleged head of the gang is Elmer E. Olden, colored, 16 years old, of Cullinane court southwest, who was arrested by police at the Highway Bridge Sunday when he fell exhausted after running for more than fifteen blocks. He was said to have implicated two others, and they in turn implicated the remaining members of the alleged band.

A thrilling chase on P street northwest early last night resulted in the capture of an alleged one-armed hit-and-run driver with 30 gallons of liquor in his automobile.

Crossing P street at Twentieth street northwest, an automobile operated by Harry Rubinstein, of 1300 Taylor street northwest, was hit by a car speeding westward on P street. The impact was so powerful that Rubinstein's automobile spun around several times on the slippery pavement, but did not overturn, according to police reports.

Two of the three occupants in the second car jumped and fled, while the third, without stopping to determine the extent of the damage, stepped on the gas and sped on down P street, it is said. Policeman E. F. Guppill, of the Traffic Bureau, who witnessed the crash, commandeered a passing taxicab and gave chase, overtaking the fleeing car at Twenty-second street.

In the automobile Guppill found the 30 gallons of liquor, he reported, and took the driver, whose right arm was missing, to the Third Precinct, where the man gave his name as John E. Two Artists Win Concert Applause

Ganz and Miss Rubinstein Applauded at Forty-second Musical Morning.

Rudolph Ganz, pianist, and Miss Erna Rubinstein, violinist, were joint artists at Mrs. Lawrence Townsend's forty-second musical morning at the Hotel Mayflower yesterday.

Miss Rubinstein displayed much virtuosity in her playing and developed a golden, rounded tone in the course of her numbers. In the "Variations on the G String," by Paganini, Miss Rubinstein showed a mastery of that type of violin art. She was greatly applauded also for her playing of a group which included "Melodie," by Gluck-Kreisler, and "Csardas Scene," by Hubas.

Woman Files $25,000 Suit Against Man After Arrest

Caused Two Policemen to Beat and Threaten Her, She Alleges, on Charge of Housebreaking, of Which She Was Acquitted.

Allegations that two Eighth Precinct policemen beat her and threatened her life on December 26 last are made in a suit for $25,000 damages filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Viania Kincade, of 2224 Twelfth street northwest, against Moses Herzog, of 5514 Thirteenth street northwest.

The names of the policemen are not divulged, the suit being brought against Herzog as the person who is alleged to have brought them into her establishment and to have engineered her arrest.

The woman tells the court that she was attending to her business on the date in question when Herzog, accompanied by two policemen, entered and accused her of housebreaking. She asserts that immediately the policemen began to beat her and to threaten her life. She states that she screamed and that neighbors, attracted by her cries, saved her from further ill treatment.

At that point, she asserts, Herzog gave her two hours in which to vacate the premises, and that when she refused, declaring she was not guilty, he instructed the policemen to arrest her. This was done, the plaintiff asserts. She alleges further that she was taken to the Eighth Precinct Station House, and, after remaining there for two hours, was transferred to the House of Detention, where she remained overnight. She then was taken to Police Court and acquitted of the charges of housebreaking and disorderly conduct that had been booked against her.

The woman asserts that she suffered pain and anxiety as a result of her treatment and asks the court to award her compensatory damages.

Attorney Joseph N. Jones appears for the plaintiff.
